Congress Wrangles Way To Adjournment

Passes $5 - Billion Water Projects Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 87th Congress limped to bickering adjournment Saturday ending a nine-month session marked by persistent Senate-House feuding over prestige and appropriations.

It was these recurring interchamber ruptures that were instrumental in making the final regular session of this Congress the longest since the Korean War year of 1951 when adjournment came Oct. 20.

And the strained atmosphere surrounding the much-delayed adjournment gave little indication that the interchamber tensions will be much eased when the 88th Congress meets Jan. 9, 1963.

The House opened the way for adjournment Saturday by rallying a majority of 236 members. Hopes for Friday adjournment were killed when the House was unable to produce a quorum of 218 members.

It then gave voice passage to the $5-billion appropriations bill to finance waterways projects—flood control, navigation and power.

Adenauer, Kennedy Meet Nov. 7

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Kennedy will meet here Nov. 7 in a new effort to align Allied Strategy on Berlin in advance of a possible conference between Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy could conceivably talk also with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle if a Khrushchev trip to the United States should be decided upon. However, officials said Saturday there are no current plans for Western summit diplomacy beyond the Kennedy-Adenauer meeting.

Adenauer initiated the plan for his talk with Kennedy ten days ago and the White House made the public announcement Saturday.

While the United States, Britain, France and West Germany are agreed on the defense of West Berlin against any Soviet-Communist aggression or open threat to its supply line, there is evidence of disarray in Allied understanding of the approach to the expected new Berlin crisis in the next month or two. Most of the misunderstanding seems to be in the Washington-Bonn relationship. Officials here privately say it is more apparent than real and that it is largely related to German domestic politics.

Adenauer seems certain to discuss with Kennedy the manner in which the predicted Berlin crisis may arise. As U.S. officials now see it, a Khrushchev visit to the United Nations in New York next month and a Khrushchev-Kennedy meeting may be an essential part of the Soviet plan but this evidently is not finally decided.

'CONGRESS ADJOURNED—!!'

Castro Demands Goods Worth $62 Million To Free Prisoners

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro was quoted Saturday as saying the Bay of Pigs prisoners rescue committee must put up not less than $62 million worth of "things such as medicine and medical equipment" to win the prisoners' release.

At the same time it was learned that local health authorities some time ago instructed hospitals to draw up lists of needed drugs and equipment of American origin, while cancelling orders for such Soviet goods.

These two developments again raised the hope of relatives and friends of the 1,113 captives lingering behind bars here.

Castro's statement was seen as an indication that the question of a release of the prisoners is still alive and under consideration by the prime minister.

These hopes sagged last Thursday when James B. Donovan, New York attorney who came here to handle negotiations for the prisoners' release, said the committee seeking to free the prisoners, flew back to Miami, Fla., without effecting a definite agreement.

Hopes rose again Friday when Donovan expressed optimism in Miami about the eventual outcome.

(In Miami, Donovan said Saturday "things still look favorable" for the prisoners' release. He said he had received "from Castro Saturday morning the first of a series of communications that I am to receive from him." He said he expected the remaining communications early next week.)

Castro's statement was quoted by the Communist newspaper Hoy. He was said to have made it during a talk with students and teachers at the University of Havana on Saturday night.

Donovan has said he was offering medicine, drugs, medical supplies and baby food in order to win the prisoners' release. He has said nothing about medical equipment. This possibly could be included under the heading of supplies, however.

Kennedy Prods Democrats, Flails Sens. Capehart, Morton

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — President Kennedy personalized his campaigning for heavier Democratic majorities in Congress Saturday night with hard-hitting attacks on Republican Sens. Homer E. Capehart and Thruston B. Morton.

Culminating a day of barnstorming in Pennsylvania and an airport speech in Indianapolis, Ind., Kennedy flew to Kentucky in his second effort in the state to defeat Morton, former chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Kennedy jibed at Morton as a candidate he said was "ashamed to identify himself publicly" with the GOP he once headed, noting that none of Morton's campaign literature or billboards bear the name "Republican."

The President made no reference to the fact that in some states Democratic candidates don't mention their party.

The President's attack on Morton as a conservative who offers "blind and negative opposition" to the administration's legislative proposals was mild compared with his scathing indictment of Capehart in Indiana.

While not mentioning the names of either Capehart or Morton in his prepared speeches, Kennedy tied off on the Indiana senator before 15,000 at Indianapolis as one who indulged in "rash and irresponsible talk" on matters of critical national importance.

Capehart has suggested an embargo, blockade and a possible invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba. He has condemned any government contribution toward a payment that might be made to Castro to obtain release of Cuban invasion captives. With this obviously in mind, Kennedy said:

"This is no time for rash and irresponsible talk which strengthens the claims of our adversaries. This is no time for confused and inconsiderate remarks on the part of those who have neither the facts nor the responsibility to determine this nation's course. This is the time for men who talk softly and carry a big stick."

This was the closest Kennedy had come in his weekend political forays to answering Republican charges that he is responsible for what the GOP calls the "mess in Cuba." He showed his vehemence on the issue by his harshly worded attack on Capehart.

Earlier in a 100-mile motor excursion through industrialized western Pennsylvania, Kennedy carried his appeals for heavier Democratic majorities to about 130,000 voters.

Speaking in areas hard hit by unemployment, the President pounded on the theme that the election of more of his party's members means more jobs.

In Pittsburgh Friday night, Kennedy for the first time lumped conservative Democrats with Republicans as "obstructionists" so far as he is concerned.

45 Die In Coastal Storm

Damage In Multimillions

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The worst coastal storm in memory blew itself out over western Canada Saturday after taking lives and strewing wreckage over northern California and the Pacific Northwest.

At least 45 lay dead. The toll by states: California 16, Oregon 14, Washington 9. And in Canada, British Columbia 6.

Damage soared into the multi-millions.

Probably the greatest disaster that Oregon ever had," said Gov. Mark Hatfield.

He declared a state of emergency Friday night and called out National Guard units to patrol the streets of the hardest-hit cities.

Hatfield said damage in the state was probably $150 million. He asked President Kennedy to declare it a disaster area to make federal aid available.

Oregon took the hardest punch of this hurricane-like blow, but along a 1,000-mile path—125 miles wide—there were shattered buildings, uprooted and broken trees, felled power and telephone lines, ashes from a night of fires—and the dead.

There were reports of other details but communications were difficult in many areas and impossible in others.

South of the major storm area rain again forced postponement of the sixth World Series game in San Francisco.

Wind gauges blew away at many points at 80 miles an hour and more. Some clocked forces of 100 miles and more. It was 121 at Mt. Tamalpais north of San Francisco and an almost unbelievable 170 miles an hour at the north Oregon coast's Mt. Hebo radar station.

The storm formed off California, hit the Oregon-California border Friday about noon, then pushed northward at 40 miles an hour. The winds were shrieking in from the ocean at their hurricane-strength all the way to the Cascade Mountains, 125 miles from the sea.

Macmillan Hails Entry Into ECM As Great Moment

LLANDUDNO, Wales (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told 4,500 cheering party delegates Saturday Britain's entry into Europe's Common Market would signal a brilliant revival in European industry, trade, culture, sports and politics.

Declaring that the movement for European unity "has caught the imagination of the young," the Conservative leader asserted: "Europe is once more on the move. This is a great moment of history."

The bubbling of revolt within the party against his plan to join the Common Market already squelched in the weeklong maneuverings at the party conference here, Macmillan appeared to be directing his words to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle at the final session of the Conservative party's annual conference.

The West German chancellor and French president held in their hands the British government's bid to enter the six-nation European trade group. Both men have appeared less than anxious for Britain's entry.

Macmillan described the Common Market movement as a dramatic turning point in human affairs.

"There is something here of that release of the spirit which lifted Europe out of the Medieval twilight into the brilliance of the Renaissance and the modern world," he said.

"It has not only inspired Europe's youth, he went on, but transcended party politics and national barriers. Its impact has not even been limited to economic affairs."

Macmillan said the Common Market would be the first of a series of steps leading to a new Europe.

Gromyko Proposes West Place Guards On Walled Border

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said Saturday that measures should be taken "from the Western side" to set up a guard against "dangerous and provocative acts" on the walled border between West and East Berlin.

Gromyko said the Soviet government had so stated in negotiations with Britain, France and the United States, believing that such a step would ease tensions and create a more favorable atmosphere.

He mentioned the proposal at a 1½-hour news conference he held here a week after a 3½-hour New York conversation with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the Berlin question. He said he and Rusk had not yet arranged a further meeting.

"The authorities in West Berlin and the command of the occupation troops of the Western powers are undertaking dangerous and provocative acts which merely inflame the situation and complicate matters," Gromyko said in reply to questions.

"The Soviet government believes, and it has so stated in negotiations with the three Western powers, that it is in the interests of normalizing and making more favorable the situation if such provocative acts are stopped."

"One act in particular would serve to alleviate the tensions," Gromyko said.

Ranger 5 Scheduled To Start Trip Toward Moon Tuesday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Ranger 5 spacecraft, shaped like a giant insect from another world, is scheduled for launching toward the moon Tuesday to take closeup television pictures and land an instrument package to measure moonquakes.

If Ranger 5 succeeds where two other Rangers missed earlier this year, the craft will be the first of a parade of vehicles designed to learn what dangers await moon-bound American astronauts and to stake out the best landing spots for them.

Ranger 3 missed the moon by 22,862 miles last January because of excess rocket velocity. A timing device failed in Ranger 4 last April and the vehicle crash-landed on the moon's backside without producing desired data. Rangers 1 and 2, launched last year, were experimental craft not aimed at the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that Tuesday is the start of a four-day period in which the moon is in a favorable position for a launching.

The complicated Ranger 5 flight involves firing the Agena B second stage into a "parking orbit" 100 miles high and at the precise moment restarting its motor to increase speed from 18,000 to 24,500 miles an hour. The spacecraft then is kicked free.

Two large solar cell panels fold down from the spidery body like butterfly wings to a span of 17 feet and the 755-pound vehicle cruises through space on a course intended to cover the 240,000 miles to the moon in 66 to 72 hours.

The instrumented balloon-covered sphere is built to survive the landing and to position its antenna to relay moonquake and meteorological information for at least 30 days.

If the balloon does its job, it will be the first "live" package to land on the moon. The Soviet Union crashed Lunik II on the moon in 1959 and the same year obtained the first pictures of the lunar backside from a distance of 37,284 miles with Lunik III.

READY FOR THE HANDOFF: Joe Snyder, 5, of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, is almost ready to take part in a football game — but not quite. He will be ready if he can keep his helmet from falling off and his pants from falling down. Maybe the solution would be for little Joe to forget it and wait a few years until he can grow into the uniform. At least this is what his mother wishes. (NEA Telephoto)

'Banner Year Ahead'

MacMurray Progress
Related To Trustees

A banner year is ahead for MacMurray College, if the start of the school year is a signal of the future, President Gordon E. Michelson told members of the board of trustees at its fall meeting Saturday morning.

Enrollment is up, representing an increase of 25 students over last year. Dr. Michelson pointed out that these gains were made in the face of reported enrollment drops by several schools in the east and some in Illinois.

There are 928 students on campus, according to official figures prepared by Mrs. Mildred G. Davidson, registrar. This total does not include evening students. The Men's College has 452 students while the Women's College enrollment is 476.

Newcomers—freshmen and students transferring to MacMurray from other colleges, total 363. Of these 171 are freshmen women, 129 are freshmen men and 63 are transfer students.

Academically, President Michelson said, the incoming freshmen are quality students. Their Scholastic Aptitude scores are all above 500, the national median of college freshmen. Their verbal score, a measure of ability to handle verbal concepts, is 513. Their math score, a quantitative measure of ability to reason with the use of mathematical symbols, is 518. The MacMurray president indicated that these scores are about ten points above the median scores of last year's incoming students.

Another encouraging sign reported by President Michelson is the fact that an increasing number have returned to the campus this fall. Nearly 73 per cent of last year's students are back, as compared with last fall when 69 per cent of the 1960-61 student body elected to continue their education at MacMurray.

The MacMurray president attributed the academic and enrollment gains in part, to the new core curriculum being launched this fall. Lauded nationwide by the press and among leading educators, the MacMurray Plan, first announced last spring, sharpens the focus on the liberal arts. The Plan stresses the humanities and includes a four-year sequence of courses covering the fundamentals of civilization, fine arts, religion and philosophy and literature and drama.

Morgan County
Women's Clubs
Have Fall Meeting

The fall meeting of the Morgan County Federation of Women's Clubs was held in the Arcadia Hall on Monday afternoon, Oct. 8, the second Monday in October.

Mrs. Harold Summers, County President, welcomed the 60 guests and read a short article on "Hospitality," which was exemplified by the Arcadia Club, who were hosts at this first invitational meeting. All county meetings will be held in different areas of the county and it is hoped by invitation of the 12 clubs in Morgan county.

The most important business of the day was the revision of the constitution and by-laws. These were brought up to date and some of the revisions to affect every one were:

Meetings will be held on the second Monday in October and in April.

Meetings will be held in the towns where the 12 clubs are located and it is hoped by invitation of the clubs.

Mrs. Earl Myers was in charge of devotions.

The program was given by Mrs. Helen Mayberry, who gave a history of "Women in Politics."

In the old days, the politician inserted his crooked thumb in his vest pocket, and puffing on his big black cigar, gave forth his political views, and incidentally, those were the views of the women in his family, too. A woman might, occasionally, be allowed to go to a convention and give a seconding speech, but never did she dare include any of her own ideas.

Today, women are in politics and hold offices from the meekest jobs in the village council to an important position in the President's Cabinet, and the number is increasing at each election time. Women, also, electioneer, are policy makers and when one town wanted the village pump repaired, they, without the "party line," canvassed the whole town and on a "write in" basis, elected their entire slate of feminine officers.

All club women were asked to study the Blue Ballot and to see that all members of their families became familiar with its contents—then voted on it.

It was voted that the Morgan County Clubs will have a "sweet" shower for Oak Lawn, each club choosing one month to send jams, jellies and preserves to the Sanatorium.

Thirteen chairs have been donated by the County Clubs and three more are on the needed and promised list, to Oak Lawn.

During the social hour, the Federation social committee served tea, coffee, cookies, nuts and mints from the tea table at which Mrs. Harold Summers and Mrs. Lester Reed presided.

Beautiful gladioli centered the attractive tea table and a red gladioli brought the warmth of fall to the president's table. Brilliant bouquets of garden flowers evidenced the deep rooted love of beauty and determination of this group who have such an adequate building in which to hold their club meetings and community events.

A social hour will follow with refreshments served by den 6. Cub master, Verl Hickey, invites all cubs now registered and all those boys who wish to become cubs and their parents to attend the meeting.

FRANKLIN — At the regular meeting of the Lions Club the group voted to donate $500 of the money made at the 4th of July picnic toward the purchase of the new school Band Uniforms. The Unit Board of Education recently approved the purchase of 80 new uniforms for the Senior Band for a total cost of $2850.00. The students have been measured, and delivery is to be made just prior to Dec. 1 the date for the 1962-63 PHS Homecoming. An attempt is being made to pay for the uniforms without the use of school district funds.

The Board voted to divert the $750 received for the sale of football gear to Carrollton H. S. to the band uniforms. Franklin, PTA voted to donate at least $200, and Alexander NTA to contribute what they can. There is a strong possibility that other organizations will make contributions and other means of raising the amount are being devised.

TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE

Members of the Jacksonville Branch of the American Association of University Women are shown securing extra books of tickets for the Illinois movie series at the publicity booth set up for that purpose in the lobby of the Illinois Theatre.

Books of tickets for this series of outstanding foreign films are still available at $3.00 for a book of six coupons. Advanced sale of these season tickets will continue until October 24th. The second film will be shown October 25th, continuously from 1:30 p.m. at the Illinois Theatre. It is an English comedy starring Peter Sellers, and is entitled "Two Way Stretch."

The coupons in each book are transferable and may be used in any way by individuals or by groups for any movie. The box office price after October 24th will be $1.00 for adults and students and 50c for children. No student passes will be valid.

The committee in charge of sales suggests that "a book of tickets makes an excellent gift; for foreign students in the community; as a token of appreciation for past favors; for that person who seems to 'have everything'; for recognition of employees; for the young couple who are especially good neighbors; or for the boy or girl who has done so many nice things without remuneration."

Mrs. C. L. Kanatzar and Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach are co-chairmen of the AAUW Fellowships Committee, which sponsors these showings of foreign films each year as a project for raising funds to support fellowships awarded by the national organization to qualified women graduates in this country and abroad to encourage gifted women scholars to go on to advanced study, research and educational and professional leadership.

The local group hopes to sell enough tickets this year to enable the Jacksonville AAUW to contribute a "named gift" in honor of Miss Emma Mae Leonhard.

"Miss Leonhard has served the Jacksonville Branch long and well, being a past president and having given many years of service on our board. Her years as a teacher of English in our high school have brought her the respect of her many students and of educators not only in our community, but all over the state. Her many interests include also ornithology, travel, writing and gardening. Let's make the Emma Mae Leonhard Fellowship a reality," urged Mrs. W. F. Bailey, local president.

Those desiring season tickets should see any AAUW member as soon as possible, or telephone Mrs. C. L. Kanatzar (5-4262), Mrs. W. F. Bailey (5-8481) or Mrs. R. F. Manlove (5-7898); or contact Mrs. Mildred Hill at Jacksonville State Hospital, Mrs. Edward Hopper, Dean of Women at Illinois College, Mrs. Victor Shepard at the MacMurray College Book Store, or Miss Mabel Ruyte at Jacksonville High School.

These are the three girls — the fall sports queen and her attendants — MacMurray Highlanders elected to reign at the Founders' soccer game Saturday afternoon with Grinnell College. The game ended in a 1-1 tie.

The girls were chosen by team members of soccer and cross-country squads. They are, from left: Joy Duquette, a junior from Pittsburgh who was an attendant; the queen, Linda Blackwell, a senior from Titusville, N.J.; and Bonnie Bell, a junior from Hales Corners, Wisconsin, the other attendant.

The winners were announced at half-time when the girls rode onto the field in a car and took their places in special seats.

Being a queen is no new experience for Miss Blackwell. She was named Miss Pennsylvania when she was a student at Pennsylvania High School, Pa. She currently is president of Macquatic, a swimming club at MacMurray, serves on the Student Union Board and is a member of Theta Sigma.

Miss Bell, who was a member of the homecoming court during her high school days in St. Charles, Ill., has been a cheerleader at MacMurray College for four years.

She also has served as president of Highland Lassies, the pep club of MacMurray.

Miss Duquette also is a member of Highland Lassies and was treasurer of her residence hall, Kathryn, last year.

The Civil War --- 100 Years Ago Morgan Boys Guard Rebels

The 101st Illinois Infantry, "The Morgan County Regiment," was living in "crude but comfortable" wooden barracks at Cairo 100 years ago and it was assigned to guard Confederate prisoners.

Most of the prisoners had been captured at Perryville, Ky., but some of them had been at Cairo ever since Grant's great victories at Fort Henry and Fort Donelson the previous February.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal
MARRIED—On Thursday evening, the 9th inst., by the Rev. Wm. S. Russel, Mr. John H. Wood, to Miss Amy D. Upham, both of this county.

We received with the above notice, a large and beautiful cake, for which the parties will accept our thanks and best wishes.

BOY WANTED—A trusty and faithful boy is wanted at this office to learn the printing trade. Some of our subscribers have promised to pay their subscriptions in wood. Will they please bring it in?

It is said the grain in Minnesota will not be half gathered this season, the whites having abandoned agricultural labors for safety from the Indians.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
DIED—September 24, 1862, at his father's house, in Elizabeth town, Kansas, Henry C. Strickland, Orderly Sergeant, Co. K, 9th Kansas Cavalry, aged 21 years. The deceased was formerly of this place.

FINE DESIGN—The best specimen of flower carving that has probably ever been executed in Central Illinois, is now on exhibition at A. Benedict's marble yard. The work is hand reaching through the clouds and representing having plucked a Lily from the stem below, and one Lily yet growing.

One hundred years ago Jacksonville had two "marble works," owned by Benedict and C. Cross, who were the bitterest of rivals. It seems that their establishments were rather extensive, as there is frequent mention of them employing "as many as five or six hands." Can anyone tell us where this particular tombstone is located?

The Indian war in Minnesota has come to a conclusion. Little Crow, the Sioux chief, has been deserted by the greater part of his band, who with the prisoners and spoils taken by them, are surrendering themselves to Col. Sibley.

From the Junior Register, Franklin, Pa., Oct. 14, 1862. The London Times asserts that the war waged by the North against the South is unholy, unjust, and hopeless.

TROOPS—Col. Waller's battalion of Texas Cavalry passed through this place during the week, bound above.

PERSONAL—We had the pleasure of meeting yesterday morning with Major John C. Fox, of the Tennessee regiment. The Major visits our town on private business. MRS. LINCOLN'S BROTHER—J. B. S. Todd, a brother of Mrs. Lincoln, was lately a candidate for Congress from Dakota territory. He was defeated by the Hon. Wm. Jayne, the present governor.

Dr. William Jayne of Springfield graduated from Illinois College in 1847 and was one of the founders of Phi Alpha Literary Society in 1848. In 1860 he was elected state senator over Murray McConnell of Jacksonville, Democrat.

This campaign was a very exciting one. The district was then made up of Morgan and Sangamon counties. Early returns indicated a victory for McConnell and the Democrats celebrated for a couple of days until the canvass of the tallies showed Jayne the winner by five votes.

Early in 1861 Lincoln appointed his friend Jayne governor of Dakota Territory, which included what is now North and South Dakota. After going to Congress, Jayne returned to Springfield and was chairman of the building committee that erected the present state capital.

SUGAR ROLLING—Up to this time none of our planters have commenced taking off their crop of sugar, though we hear that several intend commencing the ensuing week. The present delightful, dry and invigorating weather, is very favorable for sugarmaking, and we shall not be surprised to hear of a good average yield and a fair amount of sugar being made on the first run.

HUMORS of the day

Many a married soldier goes through a campaign without a scratch, and that's better than he might do at home.

They say too many minors are enlisted in our army, but, for our part, we think that the minors do a great deal better than some of the majors.

DEEPEST WASN'T BEST
TULSA, OKLA. — The deepest oil well ever drilled in Oklahoma reached 24,002 feet into the ground. But its driller got nothing for his efforts — it was a dry hole.

In later years veterans of the 101st often wondered why their prisoners didn't try to escape and they came to one conclusion: the rebel hostages would rather sit around in Cairo and drink coffee than face another round of Union gunfire.

Our "old soldiers" would recall that the rebels were constantly taunting their guards, declaring that the war would soon end in complete Confederate victory "because you 'uns can't whip such men as us."

Before the war real coffee was a great and infrequent luxury to the poor families of the South. Most of the coffee was "ersatz," made from roasted acorns and parched corn heavily fortified by chicory.

The prisoners at Cairo certainly enjoyed their coffee and there was a pot of it boiling around the clock.

One hundred years ago tomorrow morning a rather amusing incident occurred during guard mount. Let's let Pvt. John Potter relate it:

The column was standing at parade rest. The Colonel, in full uniform and gay-sash, mounted on his fine charger—which was feeling his oats quite well—saw the colors fluttering, and got scared, and reared and plunged, becoming almost unmanageable; one of the wags, seeing the Colonel's predicament, crudely called out, "Pull the strings, Colonel."

All the men, struck by the ludicrousness of the affair, were convulsed with laughter, which the Colonel heard with deep chagrin.

He soon brought the animal under control, and riding up to the Sergeant-Major, asked who the man was that dared to holler at him. That officer respectfully saluted, and said he didn't know.

"Well," said the Colonel, "you find him and I'll send him to the guard house."

The Sergeant-Major went from the head to the foot of the column and inquired of every man, and strange enough, everyone said they did not know.

When the indignant Colonel learned of the result of the inquiry he was livid with rage, and said something about sack of lars, and rode away.

The sergeant major was Philip Lee of Jacksonville. The regiment's first sergeant major was Melvin G. Lane of Waverly, but he soon fell out with Col. Fox and was reduced to private and returned to Co. G, the Waverly company. He was discharged for disability Oct. 13, 1863.

Sgt. Lee, however, much outlasted Col. Fox and was promoted to first lieutenant of Co. D in 1864 and finished the war as captain of the same company. He was a strong supporter of the Jacksonville post, Grand Army of the Republic, served as commander twice, always led the group singing at "camp fire" and sang a solo at nearly every veteran's funeral in the county.

Robert Pollock of Exeter, sutler of the 101st regiment, enjoyed a fine trade while in Cairo. The officers didn't have anything to do, so they sat around his tent day after day—and they were joined by other officers who enjoyed the mellow taste of Pollock's Double-Distilled Pure Corn Whisky, 100 Proof.

Potter tells of an incident concerning the sutler:

One of the jokers picked up an old rusty blade bit and went to the sutler's tent to buy cigars. Now, at that time silver coin was nearly all out of circulation, but a few stray pieces would turn up now and then; twelve and one-half cents, and western parnances was called a bit, and some of them were still out, but they were rare.

When the war reached the counter he asked if the sutler would sell him a bit's worth of cigars. The obliging clerk said Yes, and laid out three, which were eagerly seized by the purchaser; the old rusty bit was laid on the counter to pay for them, and the boy, with a loud guffaw, speedily retired to his quarters.

FOREIGN

Fashionable women now in Paris carry canes, with jeweled heads, when they promenade the public thoroughfares.

The manufacture of paper from the leaves of Indian corn is becoming extensive in Austria. The paper is said to be tougher than any ordinary paper made from rags, while it is almost wholly free from silica, which makes paper produced from straw so brittle.

A new system for laying the dust without watering the carriage way has been for some time in operation in the Avenue des Champs Elysees in Paris. It consists of sprinkling the road with shavings of lime, which soon comes damp and thereby prevents any dust from rising, even on the hottest day. Besides, it is a disinfectant.

JOHN FRANCIS SNYDER

Physician, lawyer, anthropologist, archeologist, historian and political writer in five languages: English, German, French, Spanish and Italian.

Correspondent to Smithsonian Institute and the Royal Museum and to many of the nation's leading scientific and historical periodicals.

But first and last a rebel.

That was John Francis Snyder of Virginia, Cass county, Illinois. Nearly 40 years ago the writer asked a learned man:

"Who were the two greatest men that ever lived in Illinois?"

The answer was most disconcerting, because they were brand new names: Prof. John Russell of Bluffdale township, Greene county, and Dr. J. F. Snyder of Virginia township, Cass county.

Through sheer intelligence, plus hard work, these two men were known far, far beyond the confines of their home territories, their state and the nation. Even today their diverse talents are impossible to evaluate accurately.

In recent months many Illinois people have become slightly acquainted with Dr. Snyder, as the Illinois State Historical society has issued a deluxe reprint of some of his general historical and archeological writings.

He was the first president of the society.

French And German

John Francis Snyder was born in St. Clair county in 1830, a son of a Pennsylvania Dutch lawyer and a French belle whose family had lived long in Kaskaskia.

From his father he got his German, sizeable dose of hard-headedness, industry, and a flair for law, history and politics. (Odom Snyder was Democratic candidate for governor when he died in 1842.)

From his mother he received his French, more than a moderate amount of good looks, almost enough social graces to overcome his stubbornness, a penchant for collecting details that would have done credit to a Gallic gossip, and a desire for an unhampered way of life in which he could do what he wanted to do.

He learned law under the tutelage of his father, and later under his father's partner, Gustav Koerner, who could teach today's St. Clair politicians how to deliver the vote even better than they're doing it.

Off To California

Young Snyder didn't care much for the law, so he was an easy victim of the gold fever which hit this country in 1849 and off to California he went early the next spring. He promised himself that as soon as he had found enough treasure he would return to St. Louis and win a certificate in medicine.

And that is what he did, graduating from the old McDowell School of Medicine in 1853. Dr. McDowell became an ardent Confederate and had to flee south, and his building was used as a prison for Confederate sympathizers 100 years ago.

In 1853 Snyder looked around the country for some time before settling in Bolivar, Polk county, in the southwestern part of Missouri—just two counties away from Bloody Kansas. While there he was a lawyer. He got married, dabbled in politics and fought John Brown of Kansas, the fanatical abolitionist.

Dr. Snyder didn't care for prohibitionists or preachers and he detested an abolitionist. He was totally opposed "to the agitation of the slavery question in any shape," and he believed that the slaveholders would resolve the problem given opportunity and time, just as the gentlemen of New England had quit the slavery business when they found it unprofitable.

Of course, neither the North nor the South agreed with Snyder in those days. But it may be suspected that many people would agree today.

A Cavalry Officer

When the war broke out he promptly enlisted in the Confederate army at a time when many of his former companions became true "Border Ruffians," and later outlaws. A cavalry major, he served with distinction during the next two years—at Wilson's Creek, Pea Ridge, Vicksburg and Corinth.

But early in 1862 he decided "the Confederacy had collapsed," resigned his commission, went home and soon took a job to settle a large estate in New Mexico.

The animosities brought about by the Civil War were so fierce in Missouri that he decided to move. With an eye to the future he chose Virginia, Ill., and that was his home until he died 57 years later.

He found the town long on lawyers and short on physicians, so he followed the latter practice. But he did it only to support his family, for his true loves were archeology and history. And as he rode his medical rounds he dreamed of the day when he could scientifically explore the rich remains left by earlier inhabitants of the Illinois-Sangamon valley.

Archeological Pioneer

Through a series of fortunate investments he was able to abandon practice and then came a rich life of diligent inquiry and report. It you're interested you can look up his findings and conclusions in the leading scientific journals of the period. They abound with facts, opinions and interest.

At 90 years old he felt life ebbling and he made final arrangements. He died in the spring of 1921, and today at his grave in the northwest corner of Walnut Ridge cemetery stands a Confederate States of America marker.

Rebel, glorious rebel—to the last.

THE OLD AND THE NEW — Among a large number of articles recently sent to the Sanitary Commission was a good and patriotic old lady's last tribute, bearing the following inscription:

"These socks were spun and knit by Mrs. Zerub Chapp, 90 years old, whose hands in youth were engaged in moulding bullets in the Revolutionary War, Chestertown, N. Y."

DURING THE WAR of 1812 gold was sold at a premium of 35 per cent, so that the sales of Wall street are now up to the mark of the olden time.

THE PHILADELPHIA MINT coins daily about $2,000 of nickel cents, all of which are distributed as soon as made, but still they are scarce. Where do they go?

The origin of the term "horse-powder," as applied to steam engines, is said to have arisen when they began to supersede horse mills, the manufacturer naturally inquiring how many horses they could dispense with.

An edition of Scott's "Lady of the Lake" is announced, of which the illustrations are to consist of photographs of the salient points of the scenery described.

Gen. Rosecrans is said to have telegraphed the news of his victory at luka, Miss., as follows: "I—u—kered the enemy."

The State of Kansas, with a voting population of less than 15,000, including those who vote early and often, has sent 12,300 men to the war.

Artemus Ward says of "the wild savage Indians," that when Christopher Columbus discovered America "the savajls was virtuous and happy. They were innocent of secession, rum, draw-poker and sinfulness generally. They didn't discuss the slavery question as a custom. They had no Congress, faro banks, delirium tremens or Associated Press. Their habits were consequently good. Late suppers, dyspepsia, gas companies, thieves, ward politicians, pretty waiter-girls and other metropolitan refinements were unknown among them."

Rummage Sale Oct. 19—

New Berlin Raises Band Uniform Fund

NEW BERLIN—Mrs. John Rieder, chairman of the rummage sale project for the Music Boosters Club of Community Unit 18, asked that everyone who has not brought articles for the sale, make a quick survey of their closets and attics, as the saleable articles will help to swell the fund needed for new choir and band uniforms, instruments and scholarships. ### BAY FIRE IS FENCED

NEW YORK (AP)—Texans put their range-oriented habits to work recently in a new direction—they corralled a fire and then extinguished it.

According to Steel Facts, publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, the fire started deep in Galveston Bay, fed by an underwater gas well, and had spread across a wide area of water.

A giant-sized fence made of 45-foot-long sheet steel was driven into the floor of the bay and, with the fire fenced in, it was soon put out.

She grabbed the paint, poured it over the papers and jumped into the mess, sending the red paint flying into the faces, hair, arms and clothing of the spectators. Babette also managed to pinch one of the chairmen, who subsequently was given first aid and a tetanus shot.

Sidelines

by ART HARRIS

While Don Houk & company of Giant killers were chopping down the beanstalk with rookie Tom Tresh's ax, we sat enjoying the company of R. F. Mau of Ashland town. Now, R. F., explained Mr. Mau, were merely initials, altho he, R. F., who is better known by "Bud," said these two letters caused great turmoil and confusion when he first donned Army flannel back in the '40s.

"The army just couldn't understand why someone would have two initials and no name to fit them," he said. As Jack Sanford wearily watched the spheroid dissolve in the lower right field stands, some 344 feet from an intended strike, our companion commenced, "I just don't think kids enjoy the game of baseball anymore. This game here," he pointed to the befuddled Giants, "isn't much different than a Little League game." Reminded that the Cubs played in Chicago, we bade R. F. please continue.

"Pressure," he said. "You see it here, but it's easier noticed on the faces of kids. I just wonder if they aren't pushing youngsters into their years and denying them their childhood?"

Reminiscing on youth, our Morgan County friend pondered, "Where are the sandlot games of old; the four dollar games that lasted ten years and the just plain good times had in playing the game?" No one could answer.

Mr. Mau does not even subscribe to that fine old American legend that coaches are builders of men. "The best coach I ever saw let the team play by themselves," he said, looking over his shoulder to see if he might have gone too far. Have we meekly delivered our kiddies over to the experts—the education school graduates and the football coaches, the directors of religious education and the scoutmasters, the choir leaders and the child-guidance clinics? Mr. M., father of a Little Leaguer himself, mulled over these questions.

Used to coach a team for fun, did Mr. Mau, before discovering what parents say when Junior is not on the starting nine. "Try to tell your own boy why you don't come out to practices and hear him say, 'But Dad, I'd be on the first string.'" Agreed, did he Mr. Mau, he had been a spectator at a couple of games. Even played in a Little Leaguers vs. Little Leaguer's Dads game, did our companion.

"Get on base?" he was asked. "Nope, went 0-3 and my own son hit a home run when I was pitching. I think we lost the game 17-4."

Mr. Mau, a farmer, he admitted, agreed he hoped children can make the swim upstream, while the rest of mankind is floating past them downstream. After this remark, he rapped sharply on wood, and wood, nowadays, is pretty hard to uncover.

Mac Booters Tie Grinnell

MacMurray College's soccer team provided the big Founders' Day crowd with a splendid display of teamwork as the Highlanders gained a 1-1 tie in an extended contest with previously unbeaten Grinnell College here yesterday.

Regulation play ended in a tie and both teams failed to score in two five-minute overtime periods. The Highlanders gained several scoring opportunities in the opening quarter but failed to score.

Grinnell's Pioneers scored their goal on a series of fine fakes and a short shot by Vince Angew early in the second quarter. Again, MacMurray countered with several deep drives but could not score before the halftime intermission.

Show Offensive — The Highlanders opened the second half with some of their best offensive patterns of the season and finally scored on Bob Cohoon's direct kick midway in the third period.

MacMurray appeared to have the game in their hands late in the final period but center forward Scott Engroff missed with his crucial shot.

Grinnell had entered the homecoming flavored game as favorites as a result of their 2-0 record. They had scored 14 goals while holding their opponents scoreless. MacMurray dominated play with 22 shots at the goal while the Iowa school attempted only 11 goals. MacMurray also was granted 10 corner kicks compared to Grinnell's one.

MacMurray Coach Jerry Lacey commented, "It was our best game of the season. Due to our improved showing today we are looking forward to the game against Harris Teachers (Mo.) and expect a successful season from here on out." The Highlanders now hold a 1-4-1 record while Grinnell is 2-0-1 for the season.

PAGAN PACED GIANTS

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jose Antonio Pagan, 27-year-old Puerto Rican shortstop with the Giants, led hitters in the three National League playoff games with six hits in 13 official trips to the plate. He hit a grand slam in the sixth inning of the Dodgers' two games to one.

Where There's A Worm There's A Way

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The worms got a chance to do a good turn for the World Series Saturday.

It's going to hurt them a little but the result could help get the rain-delayed sixth game between the San Francisco Giants and the New York Yankees under way sometime before the Rose Bowl game.

The idea is to coax the earthworms out of their wet little homes in the adobe clay subsoil of Candlestick Park, home stadium of the Giants.

The clay is holding water on top of the ground, making the outfield a small swamp where it would be impossible to play baseball even if the rain should stop, which it hasn't.

A chemical compound which makes life uncomfortable for worms is being sprayed on the outfield grass.

As the worms squirm out of their holes to escape, the water is supposed to rush down into the vacuums.

"I don't know how many worms we've got out there,"

Marler Sets Mark In Mac Win 23-33

FULTON, Mo. — Jim Marler smashed a record here Saturday afternoon leading MacMurray College's cross-country team to their fifth win in nine starts, 23-33 from Westminster.

Marler ran the three and one tenths mile course in 16:52, breaking the old record of 17:20.7.

Other MacMurray finishers were Bob Head, Bob Collier, tie for 3rd; Ron Orr, 6th; Dick Haak, 9th; Dave Enlow, 10th, and Dick Berger, 13th.

Series Faces Rain Today

Frick Plans Stay & Wait

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The worst October storm to hit San Francisco since 1904 washed out Saturday's sixth World Series game at swampy Candlestick Park and threatened to force a third straight postponement Sunday.

Commissioner Ford Frick called off Saturday's game as soon as he arrived at the park. He immediately went into a huddle with Matty Schab, the groundskeeper, on the possibilities for Sunday. "We'll proceed on a strictly day-to-day basis," said Frick. "If it is bad Sunday, I'll be out with Matty early. I'll make a decision then."

Outfield Grass Uncut

Asked about the soggy outfield under the high grass that has not been cut for several days, Frick said, "We have a very serious problem." He quickly quashed any rumors that the Series might be shifted to any other site. "Positively not," said Frick. "It will be played right here if we have to wait until Christmas."

The weatherman said Saturday afternoon there was a 50 per cent chance of rain Sunday.

The two-day postponement already was the longest weather break since the 1911 Series when the Philadelphia A's and New York Giants waited a week from Oct. 17 to Oct. 24 to play the fourth game in Philadelphia. That series lasted 13 days, and didn't end until Oct. 26. The current series will go into its 10th day Sunday.

No Rest Cure Now

The New York Yankees, leading 3-2 in this best-of-seven series that has turned it into a rest cure, were championing at the bit. Manager Ralph Houk tried desperately to find a field house with a dirt floor for a workout but had to give up. He gave orders for everybody to be ready at 9:30 a.m. Sunday because "we'll work out someplace if they can't play the game."

Humboldt State College in Arcata, which has the only field house for indoor baseball practice in Northern California, offered the facilities to the Yankees and Giants. Arcata is about 300 miles from San Francisco.

Houk still planned to pitch Whitey Ford, 34-year-old winner of 10 Series games, when the sixth game is played—if ever. Alvin Dark, manager of the Giants, re-affirmed his decision to stay with Billy Pierce, his 35-year-old lefty who has a 12-0 record at Candlestick Park.

Dark thought of having the club work in the Cow Palace until he learned that the ice was down in the arena for the hockey team. There was a chance they might be able to use it Sunday.

Army Raps Penn In National Upset

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Opponent Army pounced on a fourth period fumble and scored on a 15-yard pass from quarterback Cammy Lewis to Dick Peterson Saturday for a 9-6 upset victory over Penn State, ranked third nationally.

The fiercely played game ended in utter confusion. Twice the excited gray-uniformed Cadet corps rushed out on the field prematurely and had to be removed before the last play could be run off.

Army and Penn State players exchanged blows in the wild melee that brought both coaches off the bench just before the final gun.

The previously unbeaten Nittany Lions were leading 6-3 on field goals of 32 and 24 by Ron Coates when Tom Kerns, center on Army's brazen Chinese Bandits, grabbed a ball on the Penn State 18 which had slipped from the hands of Junior Powell.

After two running plays had picked up only 3 yards and a pass had gone incomplete, Lewis, son of the late West Virginia football coach, hit Peterson with a scoring pass in the end zone. A pass attempt for the extra points failed.

Army's other score in the bitterly waged battle before a record homecoming crowd of 31,000 at Michie Stadium came on a 35-yard field goal in the fading seconds of the opening period by Dick Hevly.

These brass operators stymied a powerful Penn State team that previously had rolled up more than a thousand yards and 53 first downs on three opponents.

They topped the Nittany Lions in passing yardage, 99 to 86 and edged them in rushing, 163 to 162.

THREE DODGERS GO HITLESS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three Dodgers who played in all three National League playoff games against the Giants went hitless. They were Jim Gilliam, John Roseboro and Willie Davis. They were up a total of 27 official times without getting a base hit. However, Gilliam led off the Dodgers' seven-run inning with a walk and scored the first run for Los Angeles in 36 innings.

Illinois College quarterback, Ken Mock, (11), runs the option play against the Elmhurst Blueboys in Saturday's 19-6 win by the Blueboys. A host of Elmhurst tacklers converge on Mock, who quickly lateraled to halfback Conrad Noll for a sizeable gain.

Miami Stuns Purdue 10-7

Fumbles Costly To Boilermakers

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Miami of Ohio caught Purdue with the letdown jitters and stunned the Boilermakers 10-7 Saturday.

A rugged line, an alert pass defense and the aerial lightning of sophomore southpaw Ernie Kellerman got the job done for the Redskins, who were undefeated in four games but who had not played Big Ten caliber competition.

31-Yard Field Goal

Bob Jencks scored all of Miami's points on a 31-yard field goal, a tremendous pass from Kellerman and a conversion. Forrest Farmer got Purdue's touchdown on a pass from Ron DiGravio. Skip Ohi converting. Ohi missed two field goal attempts, and Jencks missed one.

The Boilermakers seemed to have the situation under control in the second quarter and were leading 7-3 when the Redskins suddenly reversed the picture. With the ball on the Miami 12, Kellerman faded to his own goal line and cut loose with a sky-scraping pass that came down with perfect timing at the Purdue 45. Jencks took it there in full stride and sped down the sideline untouched.

Field Goal Shy

Neither team could score again. Purdue twice tried for a tying field goal in the second and third quarters, but lost on another try in the fourth in a go-for-bronze bid for victory that failed.

With fourth down and 10 yards to go on the Miami 35, DiGravio gambled on a pass to Steve Weil and got a first down on the 11, but with fourth down and 2 to go on the 9-yard line he called a running play and lost the ball on downs.

Purdue had 21 first downs to Miami's 10 and outgained the Redskins 203-89 yards rushing and 183-151 passing.

Miami ..... 3 7 0 0-10
Purdue ..... 7 0 0 0-7

Hawks Hang On For 14-10 Triumph

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Iowa's Hawkeyes came from behind twice and won their Big Ten football opener 14-10 Saturday from a stubborn Indiana team.

Sophomore Bob Wallace filled in smartly for injured Matt Szekow, Iowa's passing star. The 19-year-old quarterback scored the Hawkeyes' game-winning touchdown in the second quarter on a 1-foot sneak after setting it up with passes to Paul Krause for 20 yards and Cloyd Webb for 11.

Both teams scored on long runs in the first seven minutes of the game. Indiana's Marv Wooden broke away for a 54-yard touchdown sprint on the sixth play from scrimmage. Iowa's Bill Perkins scrambled 50 on Iowa's seventh play.

Luke Krueger converted for Indiana and Jay Roberts for Iowa. Roberts missed a 49-yard field goal attempt early in the second quarter. George kicked a 43-yarder, the ball clearing the cross bar by inches.

Wallace's touchdown and Roberts' second conversion finished the scoring.

Most of the second half was taken up with Indiana stands deep in its territory. The Hoosiers stopped Webb on their 1-yard line early in the final period after he caught a short fourth-down pass from Wallace. They held again at their 29, fumbled at the 34, and stopped the Hawkeyes again.

Iowa had an 18-13 margin in first downs and it inflicted Indiana's 15th straight defeat by Big Ten opponents.

Iowa ..... 7 7 0 0-14
Indiana ..... 7 0 0 0-10

N'western Upends Gophers In Final Minutes With Pass

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Northwestern's explosive passing attack, with Tom Myers coming up with the big play, broke a 22-22 tie with a 65-yard aerial to halfback Willie Stinson with a 3:56 left and went on to upend Minnesota 34-22 in a Big Ten battle Saturday.

The Gophers had just scored on a 52-yard burst up the middle by fullback Jay Sharp and reserve quarterback Bob Sadek passed to end Ray Zitzloff for the conversion to knot it 22-22.

On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, Myers passed to Stinson in the right flat and the elusive 170-pound speedster scored standing up.

Minnesota gambled on fourth down after that and the Wildcats got the ball on downs at the Minnesota 25. Northwestern drove in from there with Myers passing three yards to Paul Flatley for the final score.

Myers fired four touchdown passes to obliterate Minnesota's record of not having yielded a point in two previous games.

Minnesota had wiped out Northwestern's early 7-0 lead to go in front 14-7 at the half on a 61-yard drive capped by Duane Blasik's 8-yard scoring pass to Jerry Jones and Jones' 17-yard burst up the middle.

Northwestern regained the lead at 15-14 in the third period with a 40-yard drive. Minutes later, Northwestern flashed 46 yards to score on Myers 9-yard pass to Murphy that made it 22-14 and set the stage for Sharp's romp.

Unbeaten Badgers Down Irish 17-8

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Undeclared Wisconsin continued a drive for national football recognition by defeating Notre Dame 17-8 Saturday as unheralded quarterback Ron Vander Kelen engineered the Badgers to their third straight victory.

Vander Kelen, a senior who had seen only 90 seconds of action until this season, passed 25 yards to All-American candidate Pat Richter for a touchdown in the first period and then scored on a one-yard sneak in the third quarter. Wisconsin also scored on a 34-yard field goal.

The Badgers overpowered the outclassed Irish all the way, but were stymied by four interceptions and four lost fumbles. Two of the Notre Dame thefts were in the end zone.

A stout Wisconsin defense offset the spattering offense, which took the field as the nation's No. 2 team in total yardage. The Badgers picked off four Notre Dame passes and recovered a fumble, all in the second half.

Notre Dame ..... 0 0 0 8-8
Wisconsin ..... 10 0 7 0-17

Cox Sets Up 2 IC Scores In 4th Win

Jays Held To 20 Yds. In 1st Half

Co-captain Jack Cox, of Bluffs, intercepted two Illinois College scoring plays Saturday as the Blueboys whipped the Bluejays, 19-6, before an overflow homecoming audience.

The defensive forward wall held Elmhurst to a mere one first down via a pass and 20 yards rushing during the first half.

67 Yard Drive

Ron Carter ran around right end for 30 yards moving the ball to Elmhurst's two yard line early in the second quarter. Quarterback Ken Mock flipped a short pass to Conrad Noll for the score. Carter's pass attempt for the PAT was no good. These plays climaxed a 67 yard drive by the Blueboys.

Fullback Tom Francis, Franklin, and Conrad Noll, sophomore halfback from Springfield, picked up the needed yardage in this drive which was highlighted by Carter's long run.

Cox Intercepts

Jack Cox picked off Dennis Hotle's pass with five minutes left on the IC 30 and returned it 17 yards to the 47 yard stripe.

The Blueboys then moved the ball 53 yards for their second TD. A 20 yard run by Chauncey Whitaker, Jacksonville, carried the pigskin to Elmhurst's 12 yard line. Six linemen made crucial blocks for hard running Francis who scored the second tally on a five yard blast.

Freshmen Bill Bean and Frank Rickard snatched Bluejay passes out of the air for IC before Cox grabbed his second interception setting up IC's final scoring drive of the game.

The husky IC senior knifed in front of the intended Bluejay pass receiver snagged the aerial and moved the ball to the Elmhurst 20 yard stripe.

IC scored its third and final TD in three plays following Cox's second interception. Noll scampered 21 yards and Francis plowed for eight more yards to set up Whitaker's one yard leap for paydirt. Mock booted the PAT.

Bluejays Pass

Unable to gain ground rushing against the determined IC defensive forward wall, the Elmhurst ball club switched to a passing game in the second half. They finally put four successful passes back to back to score their only TD of the game with five minutes remaining in the game.

An 11-yard pass from QB Dennis Hotle to Steve Danko was the only Bluejay scoring play of the day.

Sophomore John McCoy also intercepted a Bluejay pass with two minutes left, allowing Mock and Carter to try some passes. However, Elmhurst's Miller ended the game by grabbing Carter's long pass.

Americans Keep Eisenhower Cup

KAWANA, Japan (AP)—American golfers produced a superb final round to win the third world amateur team championship Saturday and keep the handsome Eisenhower Cup in the United States for two more years.

But the performance of many of the other 23 national teams, particularly the Canadians, raised a question as to how long U.S. domination would continue.

Making the Amateurs when they had to the Americans team of Dlane Beman, Dick Sikes, Labron Harris Jr. and Billy Joe Patton won with a total 554 strokes for the 72-hole medal play tournament, eight less than Canada.

Great Britain was third with 574 and New Zealand fourth with 582. Beman from Bethesda, Md., and a pressure player deluxe, putted magnificently and turned in a 4-under-par 66 on the rugged 6,785-yard Fuji Course. Sikes, a University of Arkansas senior and U.S. Public Links champion, had a 69. Harris, the current U.S. national amateur champ from Oklahoma State University, a 70.

Patton, 40-year old veteran of many an international meet from Morganton, N.C., had an 81, which fortunately all could forget as under-21 rules only the low three daily scores were computed.

The Canadians went into the final round two strokes back and Gary Cowan, 23, shot 69 as did Bob Wylie. Nick Weslock, a 45-year-old golf addict who reads a book on how to play the game as he strolls along, scored 73. Bill Wakeham, 20, finished with 78.

LAWRENCE GRINDS OUT 280 VICTORY

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP)—Lawrence College used a hard-driving ground game Saturday to down Monmouth College 28-0 in a Midwest Conference football game.

Fullback Fred Flom couldn't be stopped in plunges through the middle. The school from Appleton, Wis., scored twice on short plunges by Flom, a 2-yard quarterback sneak by Gary Just, and a Just to Carey Wickland pass play that netted 55 yards.

Lawrence ..... 7 7 0 14-28

Trojan Colt

Action shots of Saturday's Routt-Triopia battle have Dave Lovekamp, of Triopia (upper) lugging the ball for a sizeable gain, and the same Mr. Lovekamp chasing the fleet footed Rocket, Bunky Ferry, (32) on an end run. Triopia decided the Rockets 13-7 in a PMSC conference game.

Illini Staggered 51-15

Hold Ramping Bucks 1st Frame

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Ohio State's Buckeyes, sticking mainly to their fearsome ground attack, opened defense of their Big Ten football championship Saturday by battering Illinois 51-15.

Still smarting from a 9-7 loss to UCLA last week which cost them their No. 1 national ranking, the Buckeyes turned on the steam after a mediocre Illinois team scored a touchdown in the early seconds of the second quarter to pull into a 7-7 tie.

Ohio State gained a whopping 517 yards rushing for a Big Ten record. The Buckeyes held the previous mark of 465 against Indiana in 1956.

From then on Ohio State showed no mercy and kept hammering away to a one-sided triumph. The loss was the 13th straight for Illinois.

Quarterback John Mumme, directing the Buckeyes most of the way, went for two touchdowns himself on keeper plays and kept alive several Buckeye drives with huge gains.

The homecoming crowd of 56,107 had little to cheer throughout the afternoon.

Ohio State took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Bob Butts plunged for a 2-yard touchdown. Illinois came back and tied the score before the second quarter was a minute old with a 10-yard scoring pass from Mike Tallaferro to Rich Callaghan.

This really sent the Buckeyes on a rampage. They took the following kickoff and reeled off a touchdown in four plays with Mumme scoring and carrying three times for 37 yards.

The next time the Buckeyes got the ball, Dick VanRaaphorst booted a 39-yard field goal.

24-7 Half

Although the Buckeyes attempted only one pass in the first quarter, they showed they weren't entirely conservative and in doing so cashed in on a touchdown which made it 24-7 at the half.

On a fourth and 1 situation with the ball on the Illinois 48, fullback Dave Francis hit the center of the line and went all the way for the score.

Mumme scored Ohio State's first second-half touchdown late in the third quarter on a 3-yard run. Before the period ended however Wes Mirik intercepted an Illini pass and on the next play Bob Klein dashed 67 yards for another touchdown.

Tyrone Barnett, a third-string halfback, booted 34 yards for an Ohio State score in the fourth quarter. And at this point the crowd began filling out of the huge stadium and many missed a nifty 22-yard touchdown run by Francis.

Illini 90-Yarder

Illinois scored its second touchdown with less than 15 seconds to play on a 90-yard pass play from Mike Tallaferro to Mike Yavorski.

Justice Court—

New Berlin Man Fined $475 On 3 Charges

Louis J. Marra of New Berlin entered pleas of guilty to three charges in Justice of the Peace court last week and was fined a total of $475 including court costs. Charges included: driving while license suspended, $300, unlawful use of license, $180, and speeding, $10 plus a total of $15 costs. The incident began when state troopers stopped Marra to issue a simple warning since he was clocked by radar as being 4 miles over the speed limit.
When officers examined his driver's license it was evident they had been altered. They were traced to Missouri, issued to a different person. Marra told authorities later that he had been a Greyhound bus driver and a friend gave him the license and re-ordered another license. Marra said his license had been suspended earlier.
Other cases handled by Justice Richard Doyle and Justice Don McNamara during the week were: Richard Bourn, Route 5, speeding, $5; Thomas E. Dawson, Naples, reckless driving, $10; Clem T. Marler, Delphos, Kansas, speeding, $5; John G. Pahman, Murraryville, speeding, $10; Weston L. Newingham, Route 4, disobeyed stop sign, $5; Daniel L. Warcup, 515 W. ## Points To Death Toll—

Findley Urges 4-Lane Highway For 36-54

Rep. Paul Findley (R-Pittsfield) yesterday urged Governor Kerner to expedite the long-planned conversion of routes 36-54 to four lanes from Springfield through Jacksonville to the intersection west of Pleasant.
He said, "This definitely should be four-lane. The death toll in recent weeks underscores the need for accelerated planning and construction."
"Western Illinois has been skipped entirely in the development of the nation's interstate highway system. The minimum that should be done is to double the lanes on routes 36-54 so that the ever-increasing volume of traffic can be safely handled."
"I hope this will not be put on the shelf, or even delayed, pending the development of plans for an expressway or other circumstances, will require years of study, planning land acquisition and construction. By the time it is completed, traffic volume in this area undoubtedly will have reached the point where both the expressway and a four-lane route 36-54 will be fully utilized."

Winchester UNICEF Plans In Progress

Pueb, Herman Flynn, Albert Herrings and the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church.

School Board
In response to a number of phone calls received by myself and heads of the junior college survey committee in Winchester, I would like to clarify the issue.

Two persons in this city interested in the junior college survey were at the school board meeting asking, not for money for approval or disapproval concerning the survey. The members were told by Mr. Kehart, in behalf of the board, that the board agreed that building facilities would be available for junior college classes, the same as for any other educational or civic project, if they do not interfere with regular school activities; also, that they would be glad to supply any information which the junior college committee might desire.

Those representing the survey were told that the board did not feel that it could underwrite the cost of such a survey but give their full cooperation in such a project.

WWI Auxiliary Dinner Meeting
The members of the World War I Auxiliary in this city will meet Tuesday, October 16, commencing with a 6 o'clock dinner at the Winchester Elementary School. Special guests of honor will be Mrs. Eunice Burkholder, president of the 6th district, and Mrs. Sylvia Hinds, department hospital chairman.

Following the dinner the business meeting and social hour will be conducted at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Opal Waggoner, on South Main street in the city.
PTA Executive Board To Meet
The Executive Board of the Winchester Elementary PTA will meet at the school Tuesday, Oct. 16, 7:30 p.m.

Immediately following the board meeting the 20 people who will be working on the five sub-committees of the Junior College Survey will meet. The five aspects to be studied in the survey are: 1) Youth study and public information; 2) financing and costs; building and sites; 3) industrial and business training needs; 4) educational program; and 5) community history and development.

There will be a questionnaire for all high school students and graduates of the past seven years. It is felt that the survey will be of great value to everyone in the community even if the survey reveals that a junior college is not feasible.

Republican Caravan
The Republican caravan will be at the Scott county courthouse in Winchester, Tuesday, Oct. 18. State and county candidates will be on hand to meet the public. Mrs. J. Ralph Peak, 20th congressional district Republican chairman, will also be in the caravan.

Demo Teas In Scott Wednesday

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week put on a mixed and indifferent performance, yielding no clues as to where it may be heading.
Volume dropped to the lowest total in 82 years. Turnover for the week was 11,822,758 shares, compared with 13,956,000 the week before. It was the smallest weekly total since 10,632,200 shares were traded in the week ended Oct. 15, 1960.

The reason for the light trading was at least threefold. Trading was cut drastically Monday because of the Jewish holiday Yom Kippur. The Columbus Day observance Friday also dampened trading. In addition, World Series baseball distracted Wall Street's attention.

A further reason for slow dealings was great uncertainty as to where the market is heading and, consequently, a reluctance of many investors to commit themselves.

"The public seems to have deserted the stock market, at least for the time being," said Bradbury K. Thurlow of Winslow, Cohn & Stetson.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 12 at 366.47, a minor change.
This average, incidentally, was moving close to where it was in the Columbus Day week of 1960, also a period of marked uncertainty. That year the market began to pick up steam before election day, a start of the tremendous market upsurge of 1961. Some stock analysts believe that election results this year, as well, may spur the market, but most of the experts have their fingers crossed.

The Associated Press average last week made a small gain of 3 at 218.5.

Even before the week started, Wall Streeters expected little of it. The holidays and the baseball games were too much to contend with, they knew.

The general market level was drifting along in a limbo between the June lows and the August highs, making no decisive moves.

The usual "mixed bag" of business and economic news backgrounded market action. The week started with a cheerful forecast that building contract awards in 1963 are likely to rise to a record. Steel production showed its first weekly drop since early September and reports were of a slowdown of incoming business.

Some of the corporate news, however, was quite good. Radio Corp. and IBM reported record earnings. General Electric reported a substantial rise in profits as well as record sales.

Bond prices closed mixed with only narrow changes resulting from lazy trading. Corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange plunged to the lowest level in six years both Monday and Friday.

Corporates maintained a slight plus edge, the eighth gain in nine weeks, but much smaller than the previous two advances. Corporate volume for the week slipped to $16,276,000, par value from $18,796,000 the previous week and was the lowest since the holiday week of Sept. 5-9, 1960, when it was $15,870,000.

Government bonds ended unevenly lower, the first weekly downturn since the opening week of September.

45 Die In Storm

and came crashing down across northern California roads and highways. North through the Douglas fir forests of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia the towering trees were clogged as great clumps, maples and oaks were tipped from the ground. People in houses and cars died under the crashing trees, or from flying debris, or from heart attack.

By dusk the storm reached Portland, the state's largest city, which was plunged into darkness as wires went down. Then the wind moved northward, hit through Washington, battered British Columbia, then eased.

By midnight the worst was over. By daybreak most major highways were open although one-way traffic detoured around high piles of brush, sawed tree trunks and hunks of roofs. In Stanley Park in Vancouver, B.C., 50 automobiles and two loaded cattle trucks were trapped in a tangled maze.

The weather bureau said nothing worse than some showers and an occasional gust to 20 miles an hour was forecast for Saturday night. Sunday night winds may hit 40 miles an hour on the coast and heavy rain may fall. But this is not uncommon.

Electric power that went out Saturday night was being restored by bit. No one would be without householders—without lights, electric stoves, refrigerators or television—would be back on the line.

Telephone service was returning gradually. Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co. reported 30,000 to 40,000 out-of-order phones—10 per cent of all it had—and would take some time to restore. Many cities with local service were cut off from long distance lines.

The World's Fair at Seattle reopened Saturday. It closed early Friday night as the gale went slinging through the steel legs of the towering space needle and ornamental trees toppled and slammed into exhibit buildings.

SELLING WAVE HITS SOYBEANS, CORN

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Selling wave hit soybeans and corn futures on the Board of Trade this week and soybeans finished near the bottom while corn made only a modest recovery.

The sharp break in beans came Thursday when the market responded to the Agriculture Department's October crop estimate forecasting production of 672 million bushels higher than the September forecast.

The report caught many traders completely by surprise. Reports of frost damage in northern producing areas had been circulating among traders for weeks and some speculators thought the government estimate might drop as low as 650 million bushels.

A burst of selling at the opening knocked prices in some contracts down as much as 3 1/2 cents. The market made feeble efforts to recover but hedge selling by processors added momentum to the drop and prices at the close were off as much as 4 1/2 cents a bushel.

Some trade sources believe that futures will face tough sledding on the upside for months to come. One brokerage firm advised its clients not to look for any substantial price upturn until next summer at the earliest.

The break in corn prices came on the first trading day of the week and was in response to an announcement by the Department of Agriculture that it would begin selling government held surplus corn. Losses ran through all corn contracts and ranged up to 2 1/2 cents a bushel at the extreme.

The corn market rallied later in the week on reports the government will make only sales for export, at least for the present, and not dump the commodity on the market.

Corn futures prices currently are near their season lows and grain brokers say the price outlook will be influenced mainly by government's methods in disposing of surplus stocks.

The week's trading in wheat was generally light with the maximum price range under 3 cents. Oats were in demand Friday and that grain finished the week at its highs. Rye closed closer to the week's lows than the highs.

At the end of the week wheat was 1/2 cent a bushel lower to 2 1/2 higher than a week ago. December $2.04; corn was unchanged to 1/4 cent lower. December $1.05 1/2; oats 1/2 to 1 cent higher. December 64 1/2; cents; rye 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 lower. December $1.17 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 3/4 lower. November $2.36 1/4.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Jan. 10 by giving voice-vote passage to the $5-billion waterways projects appropriation measure.

The final Senate-House compromise—largely forced by election-year pressures on members to get along with their campaigning—obviously satisfied no one completely although the House yielded far less ground than the Senate in the 11th hour adjustments.

This intramural bickering came with Democrats holding the leadership in both branches by virtue of heavy majorities.

Should Republicans win control of the House in the November elections—as their leaders insist they will—the split between the chambers could become even more marked and bitter. The Democrats cannot lose Senate control because only about a third of the seats are to be filled and many of these are in the one-party South.

Hopes for Friday adjournment were blasted late at night when the House could produce only 204 members—14 under a majority—for a roll-call vote on the $5-billion appropriations bill.

The roll call had been demanded by Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., who was irked by Senate action in putting into the supplemental money bill a $205,000 item stricken by House conferees from the public works bill.

But when Cannon moved Saturday for passage of the public works bill without the $205,000 for a survey of a cross-Florida canal, he lost on a 93-143 roll call. The main bill, with the Florida item included, then was passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate.

Cannon blasted the House leadership for its performance in the last few days of the session.

"I have served under 10 speakers," he said, "and never have I seen such biased and inept leadership."

A murmur of dissent swept the chamber at Cannon's words. He returned talking abruptly and he stopped to his seat without a look at Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who was presiding.

Over-all, the 87th Congress in its two sessions covering the first two years of the Kennedy administration backed the President in his international policies but gave him a mixed reception on domestic proposals.

The Democratic majorities provided by a 64-36 lineup in the Senate and 261-174 in the House were more apparent than real on many issues because conservative Southern Democrats frequently joined with Republicans.

Foremost among the administration victories was that on the foreign trade expansion bill, the most sweeping in its field in 30 years and regarded by many as the most important single measure advanced by the President.

It gives him virtually everything he asked in the way of wide powers to reduce or even eliminate tariffs in seeking to promote international trade in cooperation with the European Common Market.

To implement his foreign policies, the Congress in two years appropriated nearly $100 billion to strengthen U.S. defenses and approved purchase of $100 million in U.N. bonds.

It twice granted him requested authority to call up Reserves in the face of world crises, and passed fight-it-we-must resolutions backing whatever course he feels must be taken on Cuba and Berlin.

$2.4 Billion Bill On Water Projects Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved and sent to President Kennedy Saturday a $2.4 billion omnibus water projects authorization bill which included millions of dollars in Illinois projects.

One of the last blocks to congressional adjournment, the bill was a compromise hammered out by a House-Senate Conference Committee which reconciled differences between a House bill which totaled $2.25 billion and a Senate version of more than $4 billion.

Included were these Illinois projects:

Navigation — Illinois Waterway $40 million to begin a $114,652,000 project; Calumet Harbor and River $11,464,000.

Flood control — Wabash River at Mount Carmel $1,417,000; Rend Lake $35.5 million; Harrisonville and Ivy Landing Drainage and Levee District No. 2 $1,112,000; Columbia Drainage and Levee District No. 3 $986,000; Prairie Du Pont Levee and Sanitary District $921,000; Richland Creek $4,995,000; Rock River at Rockford $7,228,000; Mississippi River at Rock Island, Hannibal, Mo., Gregory Drainage District, Mo., $289,000; Illinois River and tributaries $71,465,000 and

$5 Billion Public Works Appropriation Bill Okayed; $30,642,000 For State

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed Saturday a compromise $5 billion public works appropriation bill including allocations of $30,642,000 for Illinois projects.

The action, taken just before final adjournment of Congress, appropriated $28,689,000 for construction of Illinois water projects.

As finally passed, the bill also contained $1,055,000 for planning on 16 projects in Illinois, $800,000 for navigation improvement, and $100,000 for survey work on three projects.

The biggest of 16 construction projects approved was the $9.5 million Calumet Sag Channel and Illinois Waterway development. Allocated to Carlyle Reservoir, it covered earlier, was $6.4 million; $2.5 million for Bay Area; and $2.3 million for regulating works on the Mississippi River between the mouths of the Missouri and Ohio rivers.

Other construction appropriations:

Beardstown $900,000; Calumet Harbor and breakwater $600,000; deepening Calumet Harbor and River and approach channel and widening river mouth, $1 million; Calumet bridge alterations $500,000; Clear Creek Drainage and Levee District $700,000; Dam 27 Mississippi River $850,000; Drury Drainage District $435,000; East St. Louis and vicinity $1.2 million; Hunt and Lima Lake drainage districts $150,000; Chain of Rocks $200,000; Shelbyville reservoir $330,000; Subdistrict No. 1 of Drainage Union No. 1 and Bay Island Levee and Drainage District $600,000.

Planning funds appropriated after compromise of House and Senate differences included Calumet Harbor and River $110,000; Kaskaskia River $100,000; Clear Lake Special Drainage District $40,000; Mount Carmel $75,000; and Oakley Reservoir $125,000. The joint conference committee also provided for $110,000 to survey Great Lakes water levels.

Planning funds agreed upon by both houses before the bill went into committee included: Chicago Harbor breakwater $30,000; Freeport $50,000; Henderson County Drainage District No. 1 $32,000; District No. 2, $38,000; Indian Grove Drainage District $50,000; New Athens $75,000; Rochester and McCleary's Bluff Levee $45,000; Say Island Levee Drainage District $100,000; South Quincy and drainage and levee district $27,000; and Tri-Pond Levee $48,000.

The $800,000 navigation improvement allotment pertained to the Illinois-Mississippi Canal.

Survey funds appropriated were $50,000 for Big Muddy River and Beauport Creek; $30,000 for the Fox River, and $20,000 for the Brandon Road Lock-Sag Channel junction.

The bill includes $400 million to start President Kennedy's emergency public works program, compared to $500 million voted by the Senate. A breakdown on projects included in the agreed-on version was not immediately available.

Accidents In September Show Decline For Area

Accidents in the Jacksonville area excluding cities were on a decline in this area during September according to figures released by Sgt. Clyde Vasconcellos of the Illinois State Police. The decline was 39% in the number of accidents investigated but the picture was darkened by the loss of one life plus 15 injuries.

Roads 36-54 is becoming more and more dangerous to travel with 72% of all accidents being recorded there. Saturday and Sunday produced 46% of all investigations most of which occurred between 10 and 6 in the daytime. Rain and slippery pavement was a factor in 27% of the accidents. At least one vehicle in 86% of the accidents was driven by a person living in the immediate area. Familiarity seems to breed contempt for danger. Failure to reduce speed on wet pavement was listed as principal causes of a large percentage of the accidents.

Motorists are cautioned to adhere to known traffic regulations and use due care with respect to conditions as insurance. The traffic death toll reached 1,351 killed as of October 11, on Illinois highways.

Sgt. Vasconcellos is the ranking officer in Morgan and Scott counties, part of State Police District 9. Also included are Cass, Menard, Mason, Logan, Christian and Sangamon counties. The district is commanded by Acting Capt. W. T. Hall, formerly from the Waverly area.

District 9 headquarters is located on Route 66, 7 miles south of Springfield, just south of the Springfield Lake bridge. The net control center for all police radio calls in the State of Illinois is also located there. Operating from a 480 foot tower, they handle over 10,000 messages every year, contacting every state in the United States.

FIRST PLACE WINNER AT I.C. HOMECOMING

One of the most impressive floats in recent Jacksonville parade history wound its way through downtown Jacksonville Saturday. Taken from Alice in Wonderland, a Disneyland feature, Phi Alpha Literary Society provided themselves again, "floatmakers supreme." This year's creation was the largest in the Illinois College homecoming parade and was witnessed by a packed parade route from start to finish.

Phi Alpha has captured top prize for homecoming floats for the past ten or fifteen years. The annual homecoming parade draws crowds from throughout the Jacksonville area and is one of the best displays to be found during the year. Trophies for the top three places were presented by the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce.

The Phi Alpha float was started at the beginning of school and built at Andrews Lumber Yard. A great deal of the color and fanfare of Jacksonville parades must also be attributed to a number of local business houses for providing the space facilities to build the giant floats. A heavy dew, in most cases, would render the float useless. One worker said the float contained 999 rolls of toilet tissue—the other roll was kept in reserve in case of a damaging wind. The float was guided by two-way radio between driver and observer ahead.

Winchester UNICEF Plans In Progress

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3439)

WINCHESTER — Plans are being completed for the annual Halloween Parade, party and solicitation for UNICEF fund by the children of churches in Winchester. A committee of persons met this past week at Sibert hall in the city and outlined the evening's festivities for this year on Wednesday evening, October 31.

It was decided that a parade will commence the evening with all children in costume at the close of which the best costumes in several categories will be judged.

Prizes will be awarded those costumes as follows: funniest individual, best couple, prettiest, best witch, best clown, best story book character and best foreign native. Following the judging the children will be taken in cars by adult drivers to all sections of the city to solicit door to door funds for UNICEF.

They will then return to Sibert hall where the receipts will be tabulated and those participating in the drive will be entertained at a party including games and refreshments.

UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) is used to help needy children around the world. It makes Halloween a day when youngsters of America share their "treats" with less fortunate children in other lands. This fund has grown rapidly since it was started in 1950 and each year it buys much food, milk and medicine for those in need.

The UNICEF idea retains all the fun of dressing up, parading, ringing door bells and having parties but its chief difference is that the "treats" are not for a selfish purpose.

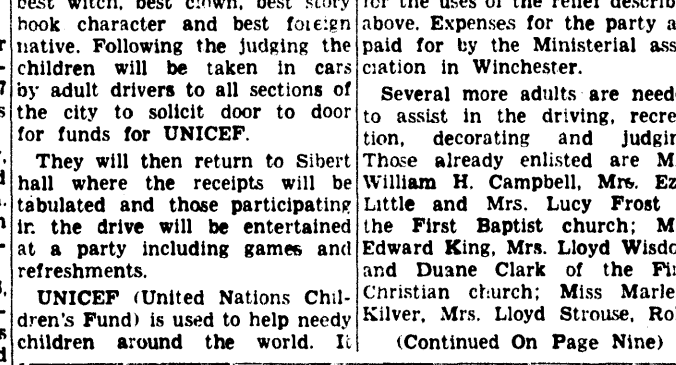

The public should also be advised that the children who call at the doors representing UNICEF will wear identifying tags and will come at that one time only.

Also, that all dimes, nickels and dollars contributed will go directly for the uses of the relief described above. Expenses for the party are paid for by the Ministerial association in Winchester.

Several more adults are needed to assist in the driving, recreation, decorating and judging.

Those already enlisted are Mrs. William H. Campbell, Mrs. Ezra Little and Mrs. Lucy Frost of the First Baptist church; Mrs. Edward King, Mrs. Lloyd Wisdom and Duane Clark of the First Christian church; Miss Marlene Kilver, Mrs. Lloyd Starnes, Robb

HUGH GIBSON, well-known Jacksonville contractor, was honored by MacMurray College at its annual Founders' banquet held Friday evening in McClelland Dining Hall.

The Jacksonville builder was presented a scroll paying tribute to his role as a citizen and for his performance in the construction industry. The presentation was made by MacMurray College president Gordon E. Michelson.

Dr. Michelson lauded Gibson's community spirit, his technical competence and the leadership as a layman in the Methodist Church. He pointed out that Gibson's skill as a builder has contributed importantly to the Jacksonville skyline, including a number of major buildings on the MacMurray campus. Gibson was the contractor for Annie Merner Chapel and for the three men's residence halls on south campus—Kendall House, completed last year, and Norris and Blackstock.

For years of outstanding performance in the construction industry, for steadfast devotion to church and community and for his enduring contributions to the cause of higher education exemplified by the beautiful buildings he has erected on this campus.

In the photo above, Mr. Gibson, right, is congratulated by Dr. Michelson as the parchment citation is being presented. Looking on is Mrs. Thomas B. Lugg, an alumna of MacMurray, who presented the traditional candlelighting toast.

More than 200 alumni, founders of the Men's College and guests of students attended the banquet.

United Fund Halfway; Start On Final Week

Worker's reports totaled $45,320 for 82% of the $55,500 goal. Volunteers get set to make an all-out effort this week to complete their cards so that the residential solicitation on Sunday, October 21, will not only windup the campaign but put it over the top.

"We know that our only chance for success is by a tremendous effort on the part of our employees. We contact nearly 7,000 employed persons through these groups. Our main problem is to get people to understand. Once they realize the importance of the United Fund to our community, they give their 'fair share'."

The words of Mr. Applebee are born out by the first partial reports from employee groups. With over 60% of the goal reached, a number of groups both large and small, are reaching 100% of their goal. The list of 100% groups to date is: Bulder's Ready Mix & Supply Co.; Caldwell Engineering Co.; Duncan Verner Jewelers; Eli Bridge Co.; Elliott State Bank; Franklin school; Illinois Public Aid; Jacksonville Fire Dept.; Jacksonville Police Dept.; Jacksonville Savings & Loan; Lafayette school; Lynnville school; MacMurray College faculty; McCurdy Ford; Morgan Co. Health Service; Morgan Co. T.B. Sanatorium; New Method Book Bindery; Production Press; Passavant hospital; School Administrative office; School Special Services; State Employment office and WLDS Radio station.

The United Fund agencies are organizing the solicitation for the residential section which is to take place next Sunday afternoon. Over 300 workers have been enlisted in order that every resident may be called on.

The residential workers will receive their instructions and supplies on Thursday, October 18, at Grace Methodist church. Two sessions will be held and workers may choose the more convenient time—10:15 a.m. or 7:30 p.m.

'No More Taxes' Caravan To Visit Here Tuesday

Free N.M.T. tea bags will be distributed Tuesday afternoon at Republican headquarters, signifying "No More Taxes" when a caravan of Republican women visit Jacksonville. The caravan is scheduled for arrival at the Dunlap hotel at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to Mrs. Audrey Peak of Winchester, chairman of the project.

The caravan is scheduled for visits in White Hall, Roodhouse, Carrollton and Winchester earlier in the day.

Mrs. Marie Pickle, county chairwoman for Morgan county, will be in charge of local arrangements at Republican headquarters in the Dunlap hotel.

Mrs. Peak said Saturday that the primary purpose of the caravan is to call attention to district and state candidates in the November election. "We've got a lot of tea bags to distribute before the election," she said.

Nichols Park Ladies Day Golf News

By FRAN CHUMLEY

It was a beautiful day at Nichols Park, all over for that matter, but especially at Nichols Park it rained the week before, and so Ladies day had to be cancelled. But this past week six ladies turned out to play. The play for the day was closest to the pin on the drive on number four. Guess who won a new golf ball for the drive on four???

Yep, Doris Jean Walz. Congratulations, Doris, we don't know of anyone more deserving. Betty Price came in with low net.

The most fun of all was the last two-ball forenoon of the year. There were twelve that turned out and if you will recall, it was raining, but that didn't stop anyone.

We went right along and played. The more we played the more it rained, and the more fun we all had. Jerry Walz and Fran Chumley came out on top. After the golf we were to have a hamburger potluck supper, but because of the rain, the cook out was moved to the basement of Joe and Nancy Sommers. Hamburgers cooked out, and we ate inside. Those of you that chickened out sure missed a lot of fun. Never let a little rain spoil your golf game. It's true you don't get any roll on the ball, but it's still fun.

The Tuesday Ladies day will continue until—so, see you there.

Keeping Pace With The Times

Most of us have seen replicas of early newspapers. What news there was in these four or six or eight-page sheets was badly printed in small type and was days or weeks late.

Yet to their readers, the news, however old, however lost among advertisements and notices, was still news. It was their chief point of contact with the world outside their neighborhoods.

Then slowly, in the 19th century, technology began to make its impact felt in the form of the telegraph, high-speed rotary presses and later, type-setting machines and still later, photographic reproductions.

But reporting remained leisurely, rambling, with more attention devoted to literary phraseology than simple, accurate facts. The imperative What-Where-When-Why? of journalism had not yet been born. Newspapers themselves were generally highly partisan, and slanting of the news was the rule rather than the exception.

Under the lead of publishing giants like Pulitzer, Scripps, Hearst and Bennett, the modern newspaper essentially took shape in the early 20th century. Familiar departments we know today—women's features, comics, national columnists and commentators, etc.—came into being.

Newspapers then were in what might be called a "golden age" as the sole medium for reporting the news. And news was breaking faster than ever in a world that was beginning to shrink—an assassination in a strange Serbian town, armies on the march, sinking of the Lusitania, America forced out of her century's isolationism.

Today, this is no longer so. Other means of communication, available at the flick of one's fingers, have supplanted the newspaper "extra" that was rushed onto the streets as fast as the story could be set and printed.

The syllable "news" is still part of the word "newspaper," however. But it is news with a difference. It is what we turn to after hearing the first flash of a disaster in Peru, an aggressive move in Southeast Asia, a baseball shutout.

The news in a newspaper today is not merely detail. It is news plus background. It is news plus interpretation. In this age when there is no aspect of our lives which science is not changing, the newspaper is everyman's textbook.

This week, during National Newspaper Week, those who make newspapers possible—editors, reporters, printers, to name only a few—are pausing for a moment to reflect on their profession's past, assess its present and plan its future.

In the long run, of course, no one can predict what the newspaper of tomorrow—the far tomorrow—will be like. An old science-fiction dream is of newspapers printed and "delivered" right in one's home out of some kind of electronic box. Who can say it will never happen?

One thing, however, is certain: The main function of a newspaper will never change. That is, to serve its readers.

Cornerstone of Truth

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower could hardly get along so well personally if they said to each other privately what they've been saying publicly about each other's administration.

Yet what they've been saying—a kind of taunting—has been much too mild to quicken pulses, including their own, particularly since what they say sounds like what they said in the 1960 campaign.

Even if they used flamethrowers, they probably couldn't light a fire under this year's campaign, pretty dull as a whole, when the country appears complacent and international danger seems no more imminent than usual.

Kennedy, urging election of even more Democrats to a Congress where now they far outnumber Republicans, has been complaining as he did in the past, about the unfinished business bundle left him by the Eisenhower administration.

And Eisenhower, trying to get more Republicans into Congress, has looked irritated but hardly angry about the things Kennedy and the Democrats have been saying. And he responds just about the same way he has in the past.

He says he's "tired" of people telling Americans his eight-year administration didn't accomplish much.

By this kind of nameless and generalized attack, the least that could be expected of a couple of politicians in a colorless campaign, neither is really damaging the relationship which has existed between them.

Kennedy didn't attack Eisenhower personally in 1960, and he isn't doing it now. Instead, since becoming President, he has sought out the older man to talk things over when unpleasant international situations developed.

This personal relationship must have a muffled, perhaps even a baffling, effect on what otherwise would be a natural instinct for them to go after each other since in a political campaign nobody needs a license to shoot a tiger.

So far in this campaign the fiercest thing Eisenhower seems to have thought of saying was to deride callow youth, meaning the Kennedy administration.

And it was hardly electric when he warned against the notion that this "clique of young, so-called brilliant men have any magic formula through which we will live and prosper." He said he was tired of their "boastful and brassy words."

This is hardly the kind of language that can trigger an anti-Democratic frenzy.

Kennedy, while praising this Democratic-run Congress, blamed the Republicans for chopping up his programs and conveniently ignored how much damage many of his own Democrats had done him when they teamed up with Republicans.

"No Congress in our time," he said, "has had a more exceptional two years of positive and progressive accomplishment than the Democratic 87th Congress."

It would be natural if voters, hearing this, wondered why Kennedy is so anxious to fill Congress with even more Democrats if the ones already there were able to accomplish so much over Republican opposition.

It's a likely guess, when this campaign is over, Kennedy and Eisenhower will be talking to each other on the telephone or strolling down a walk in Gettysburg some day when things which have nothing to do with politics get rough.

The man of the house isn't being treated like the head of the house.

He hasn't his own comfortable easy chair which nobody else in the family usurps.

He isn't consulted before his wife accepts an invitation that includes them both.

He isn't told anything his wife and children think he shouldn't know.

He has to get his own breakfast morning after morning because his wife likes to sleep late. His preferences aren't considered when the house is redecorated.

His wife has the habit of saying "my house" and "my children" instead of saying "our."

His children never go to him for permission to do anything but always go to their mother.

His relatives aren't as welcome in his home as his wife's relatives are.

His wife has the final say on how the family's income will be spent.

His wife is forever complaining about his hobbies.

His friends are never included when his wife plans a party because they won't "fit in" with her friends and their husbands. He is frequently in the dog house for something he did or for something he neglected to do.

He is afraid not to take his wife's advice on everything because if he doesn't and things go wrong he knows he will be hearing "I told you so" for a long, long time.

He knows that his wife will always side with the children against him if he should ever dare to put his foot down.

Rickover: Critic of 3 R's

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Vice Admiral Hyman Rickover, known through the Navy as "the kindly old gentleman," was talking on education the other day when a prominent educator took him to task.

"What experience do you have in education to be continually talking so strongly?" the educator asked Rickover.

Said Rickover: "You don't have to be a hen to know a good egg from a bad one."

Missouri Congressman Durward Hall's administrative assistant, Sol Mosher, says "The three branches of the government used to be the executive, judicial and legislative. Since the new Frontier it's Jack, Bobby and Teddy."

Former President Harry Truman hit the campaign circuits recently to "help" Democratic candidates running for office. In Idaho he opened his visit by informing one and all that Nevada was the only black spot on the continent and that legalized gambling was "the worst thing in the world." But he told Idahoans "go ahead and do what you damn please."

Democratic candidate for governor, Vernon K. Smith—running on a wide-open gambling platform—became so miffed over Truman's blast that he refused Harry's breakfast invitation.

After a few heated verbal exchanges, Truman pronounced candidate Smith a "damn fool" and stormed off to "help" Democratic candidates in other states.

When Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg gave a farewell party for his Labor Department associates before taking the oath as an Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, he served the good Kosher delicacy of bagels and lox.

When Goldberg's successor W. Willard Wirtz was asked what he would serve when he leaves office, he replied promptly, "Spare-ribs and sauerkraut."

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, at a Women's National Democratic luncheon, told about her recent visit to Lebanon, Iran, Turkey, Cyprus, Greece and Italy. What most impressed her was "the antiquity of so many of the sights."

She kept asking her guide "How old is this and how old is that?" so often that he finally replied: "Mrs. Johnson, everything here is B.C., except you and me."

Probably the latest official cocktail party ever held in Washington was the reception which the Latin American foreign minister gave in honor of U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk. It was supposed to be a 7-to-9 p.m. affair. But it didn't get going till 11 p.m.

Reason for the delay was that the foreign ministers couldn't agree on what to say in their official communique after two days of deliberating what to do about Cuba. They didn't finish the drafting job till 10:30. Then they all went to the party.

Not having had anything to eat since lunch, the diplomats were all starved—and thirsty. But the guests had been invited to their affair and who got there on time had to do something while waiting for their hosts to show up. So the freeloaders ate up all the food and kept the bowls flowing.

And a new Republican bumper sticker reads:

"Fight the KKK—John, Robert, and Ted Kennedy."

Gen. Maxwell Taylor, who left his job as President John F. Kennedy's military adviser to become

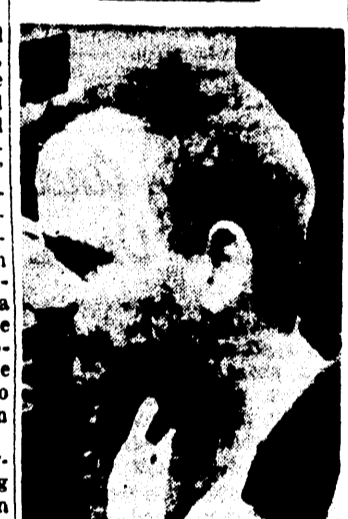

Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was holding his first conference in his new post.

Question: "Sir, at the White House will there be a replacement for you in the same position you held?"

Taylor: "I do not anticipate one."

Question: "Sir, if there was a need for you in the White House, why is there not a need for a successor to you over there?"

Taylor: "Well, one answer would be I proved there was nothing I could contribute."

Dare to Be a 'Freshman'

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Human beings are seldom more awe-stricken than freshmen on a college campus. Now, some weeks or so later, they can remember that first day as they began a special experience, as well as a new intellectual discipline. No matter how they prepared for the event, there was some awe before this new responsibility. As the popular appellation dubs them, they are "freshmen."

It was Chesterton who commented that youth is so wonderful it's a shame to waste it on children. Likewise, awe before truth is so exciting it's a shame to limit it to freshmen. It ought to be a part of the daily routine. Life on this planet is tenuous enough without making it dull and unimaginative. No wonder Jesus suggested hanging a millstone around the neck of the person who distorts the mind of a child. It would be tragic to be a "staleman" instead of a "freshman."

The awareness that the freshman can continue to be awed and the process of learning pursued is an exciting discovery. St. Paul wrote to a freshman suggesting that he "study to show himself approved, a worker who need never be ashamed." The trouble is that all too many of us have lost this sense of awe.

Too many people never read a book. Too many minds are stale at 20.

I have stood under a star-sprinkled sky embarrassed at my illiteracy concerning the heavens. I have sat tongue-tied in the company of exciting minds because a language was foreign to my understanding.

I have been ashamed because I lacked the desire to do anything about these and similar deficiencies.

When the President feels it necessary to urge us to think soberly and feel calm in the times of great danger, he is implying that we ought to be caring.

There were farm fires near Waverly, Franklin, Murrayville, Woodson and White Hall Sunday. Some 20 acres of corn and clover burned on the A. E. Curry farm near Flagah. All grass and standing crops are powder-dry.

Farmers with plows contained a fire on the Herman and Oscar Reichter farm northwest of Virginia Sunday morning. They were credited with saving the pumping station of the Virginia water works.

Several automobile parties that went from this city to the state fair yesterday were caught in the rain and had quite a time in getting home, as the roads were very slippery. Quite a few who did not take the precaution to take chains with them became hopelessly stalled.

Cass county automobilists won the state fair auto trophy, driving 889 registered miles. DeKalb county was second with 816 miles to and from the exposition.

H. L. Caldwell has returned from a business trip to Pearl. On Friday night that town was visited by a large fire in which the Fox hotel and four storerooms were consumed, along with the fire department.

freezing. No "hazard" is involved if the temperature of the food is not risen above ordinary refrigerator temperatures (about 40 degrees F.). Food-poisoning bacteria have never been found to grow at temperatures below 38 degrees F. and they grow very slowly between 38 degrees F. and 45 degrees F. Other bacteria can grow slowly at these or even lower temperatures; they cause off-odors and off-flavors that spoil foods but do not cause food poisoning.

Q—Does instant coffee cost more than regular coffee?
A—No. A recent study of comparative costs of convenience foods and those prepared at home reveals that out of every $100 spent for food, $11 goes for instant coffee. However, the same number of servings from regular coffee would cost $1.96.

Q—When a frozen food thaws, should I discard it?
A—Sometimes. If the temperature of the food has not risen above ordinary refrigerator temperatures (about 40 degrees F.) then you may consider refreezing it, provided it has acceptable odor, texture and color. The process of refreezing in itself introduces no hazard. If the partially thawed food is safe to eat, it is safe to refreeze.

Here are facts about refreezing from research by U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Research Service and other agencies:

A rise in a food's temperature up to thawing impairs color, flavor and texture and the refreezing period causes further loss in quality. If the total time involved is short enough, there may be enough quality left to justify refreezing.

Take It From Ann

Childless Couple Prefers Weekend Outings To Tiring Long Trips And 3rd Class Fore

LANDERS

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Now that most people have had their vacations I'd like to ask if you think my husband and I are crazy—or is it the rest of the world?

Almost everyone we know takes a two or three week vacation during the summer. They work like dogs all year long and look forward to that glorious time when they can forget about the alarm clock and take life easy.

So, what do they do? They plan a motor trip and drive 3,000 miles with the kids and the dog in the back seat. Naturally they come home exhausted.

Others try to see the whole world in 18 days. The major part of their so-called vacation is spent packing, unpacking, soaking their feet in hot water, rinsing out things in a basin the size of a bird bath and sleeping on lumpy mattresses in third-class hotels. They come home half-dead, but armed with 350 color slides of "their trip."

My husband and I don't take a summer vacation—we are weekenders. Every Saturday morning we take off for some small town within driving distance. We shop, bowl a few games, have a good dinner and sleep at a fine motel. We loaf in the sun, meet nice people and get home Sunday evening, refreshed.

When vacation time comes we stay home and do the general repair work on our home. Which plan makes the most sense to you?—V. L.

Dear V. L.: This is purely a matter of choice and has no bearing on sense or nonsense.

Frequent short vacations are ideal for a childless couple. Larger families are better off to take the long haul.

Dear Ann Landers: I have two daughters—in-law who have not spoken to each other for three years. The fuss was over their children.

The nephew of one daughter-in-law was married last week. I received an invitation to the wedding. I accepted and had a fine time. Now the other daughter-in-law refuses to speak to me because I attended the wedding. She claims I should not have accepted the invitation because she didn't get one. Her husband (who is my son) says she's dead wrong but she accuses him of sticking up for me out of duty.

Please give me your opinion.—GLADYS

Dear Gladys: Obviously you were under no obligation to turn down the invitation because your daughter-in-law "didn't" receive one. She is behaving childishly and if you pay any attention to this complaint "you" will also be acting like a 10-year-old.

Dear Ann Landers: I am expecting our first baby in about six weeks. I have decided to name the baby after my husband.

Is there any difference between Anthony Michael Jones, Jr. and Anthony Michael Jones, II? If so, what is it? We don't want our son to be called Junior. By naming him Anthony Michael Jones, II we could avoid the Junior hazard.

We have asked several people about this but nobody knows the answer. Do you?—Mrs. J.

Dear Mrs. J.: If you wish to avoid the Junior hazard you could name the baby by Anthony Michael, II, but let me warn you—it's no guarantee.

When you see that Roman numeral II after a name it sometimes means a third heir arrived on the scene, which could be a Junior to the second.

Advises Joint Planning Before Planting Trees

URBANA—Illinois suburbanites will be happier with their home beautification efforts if they plan with their neighbors before they select and plant street trees, says University of Illinois landscape horticulturist H. R. Kemmerer.

Homeowners may want to arrange trees formally or informally. The formal approach calls for avenue-type planting, using the same type of tree on both sides of the street. One disadvantage of this arrangement is that disease may wipe out the entire planting. Round-crown trees, like the sycamore, planted about 50 feet apart give an open appearance. Spreading-crown trees, like dogberry, give a canopy effect—as elms once did in many Illinois towns.

On wide streets, says Kemmerer, it's best to plant between the walk and the street. On narrow streets, however, planting behind the walk or on the property gives an added feeling of width. Even in a formal setting the rules or good landscaping allow mixing types of trees so long as four or five of one kind are planted in a row and then the same number of another kind. Then, if disease hits, it won't wipe out the entire planting, Kemmerer points out.

For round trees, Kemmerer recommends sugar maple, Norway maple, green ash, sycamore, tulip tree, sweet gum and red oak. Desirable spreading trees for Illinois are hackberry, thornless honeylocust and white oak.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

SOYBEAN SITUATION AND PRICE PROSPECTS

"Will the price of soybeans go up as it did two years ago?" This question was recently put to us by a farmer. He had read that China was having poor crops again and believed that it might set off another run on soybeans. The present situation is like that of two years ago in another way: The crop we are harvesting is smaller than that of the previous year.

But there are important differences. Prices of beans have recently been about 25 cents a bushel higher than they were two years ago, and the supply in the United States is up 21 percent. World markets are already adjusted to the poor crops in China, whereas in the fall of 1960 that adjustment was still ahead.

The prospective supply of soybeans is about 5 percent larger than that of the past year. The new crop is smaller, but the difference is more than offset by a larger carryover.

In September the new crop was estimated at 669 million bushels. Last December the 1961 crop was estimated at 693 million bushels, but this figure may be revised downward.

More Old Beans
The carryover of old beans on October 1 was around 50 or 60 million bushels compared with only 6 million last fall.

The demand for soybean meal is enormous, but there is lots of competition for the oil. Several things have combined to provide the strong demand for soybean meal: (1) We have a record number of cattle to feed, and prices have been high. (2) Hog prices have been good, and decreased use of pastures has required increased use of soybean meal. (3) Foreign demand has been strong, exports having exceeded one million tons in the past 12 months, or nearly three-quarters more than the year before. Finally, (4) broiler production has been almost as great this year as in 1961, and prices have been higher.

Oil Worth Less
The price of soybean oil has recently been around 8 cents a pound, down from 101 cents a year before. The national average price support level for the 1962 crop is $2.25 a bushel, 5 cents less than for the 1961 crop. Farmers with clean, dry beans will get a premium of 4 to 6 cents a bushel. Prices of soybeans seem likely to average about 5 cents lower next year than in the past 12 months. The CCC owns about 40 million bushels, and sales of these beans may keep prices from rising much above the support level. We expect that the CCC sale price may be about the equivalent of the support level plus a nickel a bushel.

The carryover of beans next fall seems likely to be 6 to 10 percent of the crop, or 40 to 65 million bushels.

Samuel Murphy, Jacksonville, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Missouri, announces Frank Richards, secretary.

TOBACCO TABULATIONS—National consumption of tobacco in 1962 is estimated at about 11 pounds for each person 15 years old and over. U.S. Department of Agriculture reports this is about the same as in 1961, but a tenth lower than the record high of 10 years ago. Cigarette consumption is near 9.2 pounds or four-fifths of the total. Per capita smoking of cigarettes averages out to 3,984, or over 199 packages. Cigar smoking will probably show an increase over 1961, but other tobacco uses will likely decline.

State Makes Progress In Soil Conservation

Illinois farmers with Soil Conservation District assistance made rapid progress in applying conservation treatment to their land during the past year. This is stated in a report for the year ending June 30, 1962 by B. B. Clark, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Champaign.

Over 3,600 farmers became co-operators of the 98 Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Illinois during this 12 month period. Districts are now organized in every county of the State. This was completed during the year with the addition of a part of DuPage County to the Kane-DuPage District.

Higher Education Stamp To Mark Land-Grant Act

The Postoffice Department will salute the nation's 68 land-grant universities Nov. 14 with the issuance of a special 4c Higher Education stamp.

It commemorates the centennial of the land grant college act which was signed by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862 after more than a decade of pioneering effort on the part of Jonathan Baldwin Turner of Jacksonville and Senator Justin S. Morrill of Vermont.

The stamp will be green and black on white paper. The design is an ancient oil lamp, depicting the quest for knowledge, imposed upon a bas-relief map of the United States.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of stamps, to the Postmaster, Washington, D. C. Each envelope must be marked, in pencil, in the upper right corner indicating the number of stamps to be affixed.

Fifty-seven of every 100 non-farm homeowner properties in the United States were mortgaged and a total mortgage debt of $117.2 billion was reported in the 1960 census of housing.

Technical assistance is provided to farmers cooperating with the districts by the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. This resulted in the following accomplishments last year: 3,100 complete conservation plans, 1 million acres of soils mapped, 220,400 acres of conservation cropping system, 50,500 acres of contour tillage, 79,000 acres of cover cropping, 1,200 farm ponds, 4,000 acres of grassed waterways, and 878 dams or structures for gully stabilization.

Flow-Planting
Drainage work completed as a part of complete farm conservation plans included over 2 million feet of shallow field ditches, 14 million feet of open ditches, 3.5 million feet of tile, and 9,500 acres of land smoothing and grading.

Flow-planting, a new practice, was used on 5,400 acres. Other practices were reported as follows: crop residue used as ground cover 164,000 acres; new pastures planted 40,000 acres; old pastures renovated 32,500 acres; proper pasture management 28,000 acres; strip cropping 4,400 acres; terraces and diversions, 1.8 million feet. Wildlife practices and tree planting showed gains. Over 5,000 acres were planted to trees with 23,000 acres of land improved primarily for wildlife. Over 2,600 acres of woodland were improved by weeding and 6,100 acres of woodland were improved by good harvest cutting.

Watershed Projects
District cooperators also receive technical assistance for certain wildlife and forestry practices from the State of Illinois, Department of Conservation, Clark said. Cost-sharing assistance was made available on some approved practices by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Illinois leads the other Cornbelt states in the number of watershed projects completed, with six completions, Clark said. Big Blue Creek Watershed in Pike County was completed during the year. Governor Kerner approved applications for four new watersheds. Little Cache Creek Watershed in Johnson County was approved for planning with Hog River-Pike Creek Watershed in St. Clair County authorized for construction operations.

Announce Wheat Sign-Up In State To Start Soon

Illinois wheat farmers will soon be able to sign agreements for participating in the 1963 wheat program, Edward J. Meagher, Chairman of the Illinois ASC State Committee, announced in Springfield Friday. The closing date for winter wheat producers will be December 14. As soon as the necessary forms and procedures are available sign-up will be started.

A general outline of the way the program works is now available in county ASCS offices. This information will also be sent to all wheat producers within a few days, along with the farm payment rate and the wheat base acreage for each farm.

The 1963 special voluntary program was authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 which was recently signed into law by President Kennedy. The new legislation raises the support price on the 1963 crop wheat from $1.82, announced last July, to $2 per bushel for farmers who participate in the program.

Farmers will be able to divert from 20% to 50% of their wheat acreage with special diversion provisions for small farms. The minimum diversion is 20% of the wheat allotment for farms with allotments of more than 15 acres. Farms with allotments of less than 15 acres must divert 20% of the allotment, or the 3-year average acreage (1959, 1960 and 1961) whichever is larger.

Of the $2 per bushel 1963 average support price to farmers participating in the 1963 program, $1.82 per bushel will be available through loans and purchase agreements and 18c per bushel will be in the form of a payment-in-kind based on normal production of the harvested acreage. (The normal production is the 1959-1960 average yield established for program purposes.) In addition to the 18c incentive payment, participating farmers will receive a diversion payment for land diverted to conserving uses. This rate will be computed by multiplying 50% of the county loan rate by the normal yield established for the farm.

For farmers who do not participate in the voluntary reduction program the legislation makes no change in the mandatory provisions of the 1963 wheat program, as voted on by farmers in the August referendum. Those who remain within their acreage allotments will be eligible for price support at a National average minimum price of $1.82 per bushel. All farmers with 15 acres or less of wheat in 1963 will be exempt from marketing quotas.

Mr. Meagher emphasized that the program gives wheat producers an opportunity to continue the needed adjustments in wheat production.

U. I. SHORT COURSE TO OPEN FEB. 4

URBANA — Dates for the 12th annual University of Illinois winter short course in agriculture are Feb. 4 to March 16.

Young farmers interested in attending the course can check with their farm adviser or local vocational agriculture instructor about the possibility of a scholarship. The Illinois FFA Foundation and member banks of the Illinois Bankers Association supply scholarships each year.

Costs for the short course range from $210 to $270. This includes tuition, fees, books and supplies, housing and meals. Further information is available from county farm advisers or the Short Course Supervisor, 104 Mumford Hall, University of Illinois.

Property Taxes Spurt In Decade, As Gross, Net Farm Income Ebbs

URBANA — Property taxes in relation to income and total investment spurted upward on all types of farms during the 1950s, a University of Illinois research study shows.

From a study of over 4,500 farms in northern and southern Illinois, N. G. P. Krausz, professor of agricultural law, reports these findings:

In northern Illinois, grain, beef and hog farmers paid between 8 and 9 percent of their gross income for real and personal property taxes in 1959. Dairy farmers paid from 6 to 7 percent.

Year-to-year changes in farm income and the upward in property taxes caused wide variations in the proportions of tax to net income. For example, from 1951 to 1959, beef farmers paid from 6.4 to 48 percent of their net incomes as property taxes. Hog farmers paid from 6 to 28 percent.

Dairy farmers paid the highest property tax per $100 investment. Their taxes rose from 90 cents to $1.08 per $100 between 1951 and 1959. Grain farmers paid 54 cents per $100 in 1951-53 compared with $1.03 in 1957-59. On hog farms, taxes rose from 78 cents to 96 cents. Beef farmers' taxes shot up from 74 cents to 82 cents.

Southern Illinois farmers also encountered increasing property tax burdens. Grain farmers paid from 3.3 to 6 percent of their gross incomes in taxes. Hog and dairy farmers paid from 2.8 to 6.3 percent.

The southern Illinois farmers also paid sizable portions of their net incomes in property taxes. From 1951 to 1954, grain farmers paid from 5 to 15 percent; dairy farmers from 5 to 21 percent; and hog farmers, 6 to 22 percent. Figured in terms of farm investment, southern Illinois grain farmers' taxes moved up from 88 cents to $1.17 per $100 between 1951 and 1959. The rates on hog farms rose from 91 cents to 98 cents, and those on dairy farms from 92 cents to $1.01.

The Knot That Was Not A Not

By Emma Mae Loomard

During 1962 we have enjoyed the privilege of finding a few unusual species of birds in our area, which may be called accidentals, like the Chuck-will's-widow, the Least Tern, the Snowy Egret, or the Buff-breasted Sandpiper. As a climax to this group we can report the Knot, a dumpy light-grayish shore-bird, actually quite a non-descript bird that we saw on the Mercedia mudflat on the morning of Aug. 13.

We must grant that we weren't very excited at first, although we had a vague feeling that the lone bird on the far shore line was a different-looking one from any that we had seen there. Even then we were almost ready to turn our back on it and explore the mudflat teeming with shore birds of different shapes and patterns, but luckily it flew to the edge of a flat nearer to us.

Then we began to study it in earnest. Since it still had some of the summer red on its breast, it was limited to one of only three kinds of shorebirds: Dowitcher, Hudsonian Godwit, or Knot.

By a process of eliminating this mark or that, we were sure that this bird was a Knot. It looked fatter, shorter, and dumper than the ordinary shorebird. It had a whitish rump, but it couldn't be a White-rumped Sandpiper; it was too large, and its bill was too heavy.

A Dowitcher?

Could it be a Dowitcher? We hoped not, for we often saw Dowitchers even at Lake Mauvais-terre. Both species could have rusty marks, and were about the same size. Actually both of them are sometimes called Robin Snipes. However, this bird's bill was too short to be a Dowitcher's, which is a long snipe-like bill. Furthermore, it did not feed like a Dowitcher, rapidly jabbing its long bill perpendicularly into the mud and pumping like a sewing machine. It was a daintier, more nonchalant feeder.

It was too small to be a Godwit. This gray dumpy bird was a Knot.

Lucky for us that we were there just at that time! Although others sought for this Knot later, it was never seen again, to our knowledge. If we are wrong, please let us know. And yes, we saw a Knot.

Rockets And Space—

LARK IN SPACE

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

On Sept. 30, 1962 a fourth country, Canada, got into the satellite business with the launching of Alouette I. It is named for a sky-lark. (Maybe you have sung the French song "Gentil Alouette.") Alouettes make soundings of ionized (electrically charged) layers of the ionosphere from their topside by bouncing radio waves off them. The layers of the ionosphere have been sounded from beneath in this way ever since radio was invented.

The soundings have found 3 layers of ionization (electrical charging) in the ionosphere: 1. The E layer about 40 to 50 miles up; 2. the F1 layer at about 175 miles; and 3. the F2 layer between 188 and 250 miles up.

Like the Van Allen Radiation Belts, these layers are caused by radiation from the sun. Also like the Van Allen Belts, their exact height and strength varies according to how much radiation they get from the sun. The ionosphere layers, however, are caused by radiation which has gotten through the magnetic field and therefore the Van Allen Belts—and smashed into the atoms of the upper air. This collision stops the particles but leaves the air atoms broken up into ions.

Named For Discoverers
The E layer was the first one discovered. It is also called the "Kennedy-Heaviside Layer" after the men who discovered it. In 1901, Oliver Heaviside, a British physicist, suggested that the reason radio waves bounced thousands of miles was that they were reflected off of a layer of ionization into the upper air.

In the early 1920s, an American engineer, Arthur Edwin Kennelly, found this layer. He named it the "E" layer in case any layers were found below it.

No Bounce To TV, FM
Radio waves from AM radio stations and police cars bounce off the layers of the ionosphere, but radar, FM and TV go right on through. This is why we have world-wide radio—but only local TV (Network TV programs are relayed through cables or microwave towers to your local station).

Since all radio waves bounce off the bottom of the layers of the ionosphere we don't know what their tops are like. It's rather like trying to tell what the roof of your house is like from the basement. It is the job of Alouette to see what the ionosphere looks like from the outside.

Ten Teens

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

The class of Teen Girls knew there were not enough little chairs for the Primary children in their Sunday School. Disappointed late comers had to use grown-up chairs.

"Might we try to buy six more?" they asked their teacher.

"Maybe you can think of something," she agreed.

"But how?" Mortense interrupted.

Enterprising Edna suddenly evolved a plan. "The junkyard is paying a good price for rubber. Why don't we collect scrap rubber to sell?"

"My mother has an old door mat, would that do?" Carrie asked.

"There is a long piece of leaky hose at our house," Lucille offered. "I could get that."

Marian had an old bicycle tire she knew.

Edna's eyes brightened. "We can hunt at home and ask our neighbors to save old pieces, can't we?"

"Try to collect all that you can," Mrs. Beam their teacher urged. "By the end of the month you can bring it to my house. We'll have a rubber party then."

Party Day Comes
So the Teens and their friends stored scrap rubber in sacks for the Little Chair Fund; boots, rubbers, overshoes, swimming caps, whatever could be found.

At length the party day came. "I'll stop for the things too heavy to carry," Mrs. Clark promised, who lived too far to walk with her seven little children. "We can put the hose and the bicycle tire in our carriage and stop for any other bundle or sack heavier than you should carry, I'll start early."

Along the way she passed the Teen Girls and their friends, each with their arm-sized parcels, but her load was the first to fall on Mrs. Beam's pretty front porch; though the hose sprawled and some of the rubbers toppled out of their sacks. She hastened to the dining room to help with refreshment plans, while her seven little folks entered the pleasant parlor, now filled with extra chairs edged carefully into a circle.

The children delightedly chose an inviting rocker apiece and listened happily as THUMP, BUMP, KAPLOP, other guests dropped their rubber gifts on the porch, then entered the parlor. Although there were no empty rocking-chairs for the older people, who were a bit tired, they sat politely on straight chairs for Edna was about to begin a party game.

Around the circle she moved giving each a whispered fruit name, apple, pear, grape, cranberry, peach, strawberry, orange and on.

"Fruit Basket" began when Edna spun a tin plate and called the name of a fruit. Who ever had that name must run to catch the pan before it fell, while Edna dashed to the empty chair, then it all began anew.

When it was Hortense's turn to spin the pan she called "Fruit Basket Upset!" Now everyone must change chairs, scrambling across the center of the room, younger ones slid gleefully into empty chairs but older players criss crossed to win rocking chairs.

Great Heights With Kites

By Joseph A. Smith

While we think of spring rather than fall as the time for kite flying, we believe that here is an idea that many readers will want to keep in mind until the weather permits him (or possibly even her) to plan to try.

No doubt many readers are thoroughly familiar with the making and flying of individual kites; few boys there are who have not at one time had at least one kite and string tugging at its handle on the ground. Yes, the author knows whereof he speaks.

Did you ever think of flying more than one kite at a time? It can be done if you're in a favorable location such as on the top of a hill or along a bluff where ascending air currents will aid the kite to climb more readily and steadily.

According to one authority at least, a kite having six sides (resembling a star with the points filled in) is one of the best types for truly high flying kites capable, in a brisk wind, of pulling up a considerable length of string; indeed, they have been known to reach heights of 1,000 feet above the earth!

However, here's one way, used by some experts, used to attain even greater heights. One kite is let out until it has risen to its maximum possible height above ground (which limitation is due to the actual weight of the long length of kite string itself).

Next, a second kite is let out to a second 300 feet height in the same area, and then brought over to where its string can be firmly tied to the string of the first and highest kite. The uppermost kite helps lift the lower one. In this way, as each additional kite is added, and the upper kite lifts the lower one an additional several hundred feet upward.

The kites nearest to the earth must be somewhat larger in physical size as more lifting area is needed closer to the earth. In this manner, it is entirely possible to fly as many as five kites at one time from one string with the highest kite rising to as high as one mile! The smallest uppermost kite might be two feet in diameter, while the bottom kite might be around four feet in diameter.

True Story

Watch Out For Billy!

By Mary Pence Claywell

One day a frail, little, sort-of-slimpy fellow left the room in time of school. Actually, I was doing that Teacher a favor when he left the room that day . . . for he always loitered around until Miss Prudy had to call . . . or maybe come after him!

But for once, I went a little too far . . . even if I was on Miss Prudy's side.

I waited until the little tike was poking along, paying no attention, and probably wondering how he could manage to kill a little more time . . . then I put my head down, humped my back . . . and made for him!

He ran as fast as his little pipe-stem legs could go . . . but he wasn't quick enough, and I caught up, just as he reached the door . . . and before he could slam it . . . I squeezed through too!

Where's That Boy?
There was a cloak-room on either side of the main hall, and he disappeared into one, and for a minute I lost him! Then I spied his heels sticking out from under the wash table, where he thought he was safe . . . and I humped again, and was ready to charge, table or no table . . . when I heard Miss Prudy yell, "Frank, get that Goat!"

Frank (that's pretty close to his real name) was the largest boy, and in seconds, he had me by the horns . . . and all the others jumped out of their seats, and gave him plenty of help. Miss Prudy was wringing her hands hard . . . just as they shoved me outside the hall and slammed the heavy door . . . and I galloped for home, as fast as I could go . . . with unquenched fire in my beady eyes . . . and fully determined to get that teacher . . . or one of her pupils cornered yet!

Well . . . as far as I'm concerned . . . my story ends right here . . . for I, Billy the Goat, had vanished!

As for Miss Prudy, she would probably say, "Now, Children . . . we can have some peace!"

Oh well . . . law-breakers always come to some bad end, unless they mend their ways . . . and goats are no different . . . so Billy just became an unpleasant memory; and Miss Prudy says, "To this day . . . my hair rises on end when I see a goat nipping grass . . . and I want to run!"

School Prayer Issue Presents Many Questions To High Court

By JERRY T. BAULCH
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court may clear up by next July some of the confusion over what prayers, if any, may be said in public schools or whether Bible verses may be read in the classrooms.

Those questions were not answered in last June's historic decision declaring unconstitutional a prayer supplied by state officials for use in New York State public schools. Many people interpreted this as an outright ban on prayer in the schools and it brought one of the angriest public outcries the court has faced in recent years.

A few weeks ago Justice Tom C. Clark departed from the custom of Justice not commenting on the court's rulings and expressed dismay at what he called misunderstanding. All the court decided, he said, was that government cannot take part in the establishment of religion. It was a 6-1 decision and Clark joined in the majority view.

The high tribunal agreed this week to tackle once more this emotion-laden issue of separation of church and state. Specifically, the court will hear sometime in the months ahead appeals from two lower court decisions.

One appeal is by Pennsylvania officials from a decision by a three-judge federal court that the state law requiring Bible reading in public schools violates the U.S. Constitution.

The other appeal is by an atheist mother of an atheist son who contends that a Baltimore, Md., school board regulation calling for opening of school each day with Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer is unconstitutional. Both the Philadelphia and the Baltimore practices have been attacked despite the fact that children are not required to participate. They may be excused with written permission from a parent or guardian.

Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, whose son William J. Murray III is now in the 11th grade in Baltimore, told the court in her appeal that her son's non-participation in the exercise caused him "loss of caste with his fellows, (he was) regarded with aversion, and subjected to reproach and insult."

The board's rule says "each school, either collectively or in classes, shall be opened by the reading, without comment, of a chapter in the Holy Bible and the use of the Lord's Prayer. The Douay (Catholic) version may be used by those children who prefer it."

This is somewhat similar to the Pennsylvania law, which reads: "At least 10 verses from the Holy Bible shall be read without comment at the opening of each public school on each school day. Any child shall be excused from such Bible reading or attending such Bible reading upon the written request of his parent or guardian."

Edward L. Schupp, a Unitarian living in a Philadelphia suburb, brought the suit on behalf of his children, who attended Abington Township High School.

The answers to these appeals could have a greater impact across the nation than even last June's decision which focused on the New York prayer.

By OSWALD JACOBY

As I look back on a long bridge career I can recall all my triumphs, but most of my misadventures are long forgotten.

However, no series of articles on third hand low plays would be complete unless I recounted one unhappy result.

The game was rubber bridge. The late Ely Culbertson sat South, the late P. Hal Sims North and I was West. East also was a well known player, but I will withhold his name for reasons that will soon become apparent.

The time was the early thirties but the bidding might well go the same way today. Hal and Ely were just about the best of the early contract experts.

I realized that our only chance to beat the hand would be with two club tricks. It also seemed certain that Sims would hold the king of clubs. Otherwise he would have let the hand play at five spades.

I dropped the three of clubs on the table as soon as the bidding was over.

Ely played the four from dummy just as quickly and my partner had a problem. After a lot of thought he solved it the wrong way. He played the eight whereupon Ely took his jack and promptly ran off 13 tricks.

Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:
East South West North
1 Dia. 1 Spds. 2 Dias. Pass
Pass 2 Spds. 3 Dias. 3 Hrts.
Pass ?

You, South, hold: Spades, A-Q-10-8-6; Heart, 3; Diamonds, K-9-8; Clubs, A-7-5-4.

What do you do?
A—Pass. Your partner must have a lot of hearts and a bad hand. Your high cards will help him, but you don't want to bid any more.

Today's Question
Again East opens one diamond. You, South, hold: Spades, A-Q-10-8-6; Hearts, K-9-8-7; Diamond, 3; Clubs, K-3-2. What do you do?
Answer Tomorrow

Judge Pendergrass removed his spectacles and rubbed both his hands down across his face as if his eyes were tired.

"We have won, Youngblood," he said. "Sort of hard to realize, isn't it? We won against pretty good odds. But the victory is bitter to me. Very bitter. It makes me feel like Brutus might have felt after he helped kill Julius Caesar. He must have wondered whether he killed a man who was really bigger than himself."

He paused and in the pause, Deputy Youngblood said, "I don't look at it that way, sir. I don't see how we could have done anything different."

The judge looked up at him and sighed. "No, that's a fact," he replied. "I've been running in circles in my thinking to night and always I come back to that conclusion. We couldn't have done anything different. Maybe if I'd been a smarter man, maybe I could have seen my brother's part in this thing, and I could have disqualified myself. But that wouldn't have been any answer. In fact, I have to gather up my books and junk. After my brother is buried, I have a stage to catch."

"Judge, I sort of have a question to ask you," the older man said. "If I don't know the answer, I'll say so."

"Well, Judge," the deputy said, "it seems to me like we were lucky, but we were right and we fought them pretty hard, too. We hanged Ivey in broad daylight because that's the way you said it was going to be."

"I like that attitude," the judge said. "But, you know, many men have tried to have their way with Stephen Pendergrass and William Ivey in the past, and they have failed. They'll say at my brother's funeral that he was a good man. He wasn't even a good boy; he was a child of a wild time and a wild place. He and Ivey were both like that."

"You know, Torres was one of them too. We may never know where he fitted in, but we know he rode with Ivey in the past, and today he took revenge for Ivey as if he were his brother."

"You know, my brother asked me once, where would this very courthouse be if it weren't for him. He might as well have asked where would Comanche Wells be. Neither would have been here."

Youngblood wanted to say, between you and your brother, the best man won. "Well," the judge went on. "I've been sitting here spouting fancy yap-yap, signifying nothing, and I must get to packing. I have to gather up my books and junk. After my brother is buried, I have a stage to catch."

"Judge, I sort of have a question to ask you," the older man said. "If I don't know the answer, I'll say so."

"Well, Judge," the deputy said, "it seems to me like we were lucky, but we were right and we fought them pretty hard, too. We hanged Ivey in broad daylight because that's the way you said it was going to be."

to study law? I mean, reckon I would stand a chance?"

The judge was happier than he had been all night. "I'll tell you what I'll do, Youngblood. When I come back for my next term of court I'll bring you some books. You read them and then we'll see what you think. I believe you can do anything you set your mind to, and I'll help you every way I can."

He found the sheriff and Slim holding their horses in front of the office. The sheriff answered his unspoken question. "Torres is out of the county and into the mountains. What in the heck are you hanging around here for? You ain't even on the payroll now."

"I want to talk to you about that, tomorrow when you have time," Youngblood told him. "I got time right now."

"Well, I want to stay on as a deputy, if you could use me."

The sheriff laughed. "Aw, I guess we could use you maybe."

He came into the room where Lila was with the new child and saw her sitting beside it in a straight chair, absorbed in the task of folding a bunch of small white baby clothes.

"What in the world are you doing out of bed?" he asked.

She laughed. "Why I'm taking care of our baby."

Then he said suddenly, "Goodnight, Lila! I don't even know his name."

She laughed again. "Poor little feller. I thought it would be a girl, and I was going to name it Victoria, after the queen of England; but since it's a boy, he'll have to get along on whatever his papa can think up."

When finally the name "Albert" occurred to him he was not thinking of a Victoria's prince, but of a little district judge with one game leg, and he thought the name would be a good one for a boy to wear.

'I Want To Get Married But My Country Comes First' Says Gil

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—"My girl and I want to get married," young Ricardo Gil Morales said earnestly. "But my country comes first. There will be some fighting to do."

Violent trouble may be coming soon. It must be met before young men like Ricardo can turn their attention to binding up the wounds inflicted on their nation of 4 million people by 30 years of dictatorship.

"But you can see the hope in their eyes now," says Newell Williams, energetic administrator for the U.S. Alliance for Progress in the Dominican Republic.

This is one country where the alliance seems to be off and running. It seems within reaching distance of its first significant victory in Latin America over communism and Castroism.

The extreme left will not take this lying down. The tough hard core of the Castro-Communists numbers perhaps 70,000 members, disciplined and well organized. Its intention obviously is to throw the little Caribbean nation into violent confusion in advance of national elections scheduled for December.

Communists are believed smuggling arms and ammunition from Cuba to use in a battle to prevent the Dominican Republic from getting on its feet.

"But with or without guns," young Ricardo said, "we will beat them. They have been making most of the noise, but we outnumber them and we are going to make some noise ourselves."

A new slogan is "Basta ya!" Roughly, that is the equivalent of "Knock it off and get to work." It was the rallying cry shouted to huge crowds in Santo Domingo's Independence Square last July after violent rioting. It came from Dr. Viriato Fiallo—a physician-philosopher who is running for president under the National Civic Union Party. The chances are he will be elected in the December voting, but there are big problems ahead.

Dr. Fiallo says he is confident that with the new impulse created by the vigorous U.S. aid program, the Communists will be beaten back.

"That impulse is as great for us as the Marshall Plan was for Europe, because we are such a small country, and the force of the program is that much stronger," says 67-year-old Dr. Fiallo, who suffered prison and persecution under the dictatorship of the late Rafael Trujillo.

The Alliance's success thus far has been the more notable because it was accomplished in cooperation with a governing seven-man council. The fact that the council, with all its varying viewpoints, worked at all was a source of astonishment.

"If this country is given another year to work out its problems and get things moving, it will have it made," says Williams.

In the brief time the Alliance program has been in operation there has been noticeable improvement in the economy and standard of living. People are eating more and better. A housing program involving self-help has caught on and captured imaginations.

But, says Dr. Fiallo, everything depends upon establishment of order and political stability, and that will not be easy. The forthcoming elections have drawn 25 political parties. Most are fly-by-night affairs. Only two are really in the contest for the presidency. The main opponent of Dr. Fiallo's UCN is the PRD—the Dominican Revolutionary Party, headed by Juan Bosch and somewhat more to the left.

Interpreting
The News

By CARL HARTMAN
BERLIN (AP)—Proposals that West Berlin be made part of West Germany sometimes bring the astonished question: Isn't it already?

The answer is: not quite. West Berlin looks like West Germany, though separated from it by 110 miles of Communist-ruled territory. It has the same modern buildings, the same prosperous and busy people, the same warmly dressed youngsters trudging to school with schoolbags.

It is organized like the 10 other West German states, such as Hamburg or Hesse. The official title of "governing mayor" for Willy Brandt is somewhat misleading. Actually he is a kind of regional governor or prime minister, head of a Cabinet responsible to a local Parliament. Most laws of the West German Federal Republic are valid in West Berlin.

There is one big difference, and it is a major element in the cold war.

The top authority in Berlin is not the West German federal government under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The bosses are the United States, Britain and France represented by three major generals—Albert Watson II, Claude Dunbar and Edouard Toulouse. Mayor Brandt is responsible to them.

In the official legal view of these Allies, Berlin is still the occupied capital of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich. That goes for East Berlin too. The Soviet Union no longer recognizes this, and in August dissolved its command in the Eastern part of the city.

The occupation status has important practical effects. Young Berliners do not serve in the West German army and West German troops are not stationed in Berlin. The police, although under local command, take their basic orders from the three Western generals.

Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist leader, said again last week that West Berlin is not and must not become part of West Germany. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's adviser on Berlin, has been reported advising that it be done. Britain and France are known to be opposed, at least for the present.

One thing such a step would do is to change the status of the 11,500 American, British and French troops in the city. The Western powers consider themselves to be in Berlin by right of conquest. If West Berlin were to become part of West Germany, the troops would be here only as invited allies. Many West Berliners then might feel less confident of the troops' continued presence as protectors against the surrounding Communist forces.

Changing West Berlin into a full-fledged West German state would also raise the question of whether West German troops should also be stationed here. West German troops, facing the Communists' "people's army" along the Berlin wall, might act differently from civilian West Berlin police under the command of Western generals.

Woman's Club At
New Berlin Hears
Safe Driving Talk

NEW BERLIN—The New Berlin Woman's club held their October meeting last Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the fairgrounds building with the Safety Committee in charge of the afternoon. President Mrs. Woodrow Marr conducted the business meeting, extending a special welcome to Mrs. Helen Munson of Miami, Fla., who was a charter member of the New Berlin Woman's club, aiding in its founding in 1919. Mrs. Munson spoke briefly on the early days of the club, giving a lively resume of its activities.

Mrs. Virgil Long, public health chairman, announced that the immunization program carried out in the local schools by the club, in cooperation with the local physician and visiting nurse association, will begin the first Thursday of November, with follow-up dates of Dec. 6 and Jan. 3.

Mrs. Marr announced that the club will again assist the New Berlin Men's Community club with the annual Halloween party for the community No. 16 area. The party is scheduled for Oct. 31 in the fairgrounds building.

Announcement was also made by the public health committee that the speaker for the Nov. 2 meeting of the Women's club will be an informed speaker on the subject of a proposed County Health Department, which will come before the voters on Nov. 6.

Mrs. David Jones, chairman of the Safety committee, introduced Corporal Dale Higgins of the State Highway Patrol. Cpl. Higgins, whose home is in Augusta, Ill., gave a very interesting and enlightening talk on safety on the highways, stressing the fact that most accidents are caused by someone breaking a traffic law. He stated that the women's most common cause of one-car accidents stems from driving too close to the edge of the pavement, and getting into difficulty trying to get back onto the pavement after driving over the edge. Many new traffic laws were brought to the attention of the group. A question and answer period followed.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served from a tea table set in the autumn theme, with the safety committee members hostesses: Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Lloyd Loving, Mrs. W. C. Zachary, Mrs. W. T. Marr, Mrs. Edward Rust, Mrs. T. T. Wilson, Mrs. Ralph Frank, Mrs. Russell Saul, and Mrs. Ira Linton.

Tigers Keep Tight Grasp On PMSC 1st

Down Petersburg For 3rd Loop Win

PETERSBURG — ISD kept their lead in PMSC conference play by downing Petersburg 18-7 Friday night in the Bluejays' homecoming.

Warren Miller broke the ice for the Tigers in the first quarter with a 36 yard plunge over center for the first ISD tally, climaxing a drive that started on the Tigers' own 30 yard line.

Petersburg, on a first quarter drive of their own, fumbled with only a half foot to pay dirt, with ISD recovering. The game was marked with good defensive play by both teams, with neither team scoring in the second quarter.

The third quarter saw Petersburg score their only tally of the game and knot the score on a 30 yard pass play from Bluejay quarterback Gene Dowell to Terry Wallace on a fourth down play. The Bluejays went into the lead by successfully converting the extra point, and held ISD scoreless for the remainder of the period.

In the fourth period ISD would not be held. Bruce Jackson went off tackle on a 26 yard run that regained the advantage for the defending PMSC champs, pushing them into a 12-7 lead. The try for the PAT failed.

ISD's final touchdown came with 12 seconds remaining in the game, when right halfback Mike Hummel intercepted a Bluejay pass and ran 20 yards to paydirt. The last quarter saw a sharp ISD defense keep Petersburg scoreless.

The win keeps the Tigers' share of the PMSC conference title intact, and puts the Tigers in the win column for their last three starts. Petersburg remains winless after four games.

ISD's two losses were at the hands of Winchester and Roodhouse, giving the Tigers a 3-2 overall record thus far in the season.

Score by quarters:

ISD 6 0 0 12-18
Petersburg 0 0 7 0-7

Horse Breeder, Trainer Files Suit For $50,000

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A horse breeder and trainer has filed suit for $50,000 in damages in U.S. District Court against Fairmount Park Jockey Club Inc., Madison county and several officials.

Bert Connor, who is from Arkansas, charged in the suit filed Thursday that his reputation as a horse owner, trainer and racer was damaged when he was barred from the club.

Defendants are Joseph Podesta, president of the Illinois Horse Benevolent Protective Association, Honore P. Morancy of Kentucky, chief track steward of Fairmount, and Thomas Engleman of Florida, racing secretary and director of racing at the track.

The suit said these three conspired to ruin Connor's reputation and business by preventing him from racing horses at Fairmount.

On Aug. 8, 1961, the suit said, Engleman forbade Connor to enter horses in any races. Connor said he then hired a trainer and signed a contract with management of all his horses, but Morancy refused to let the horses run unless Connor sold them.

Connor sold his horses and they were later entered at Fairmount and won races, the suit said.

Connor asked for a hearing but was refused by Morancy, the suit said.

It did not state the reason Connor was barred from the track.

Winchester Edges White Hall 6-0

WINCHESTER—Winchester celebrated their homecoming Friday evening with a 6-0 hard fought victory over the White Hall Maroons, with quarterback Bob Watts scampering 30 yards for the winning touchdown in the third quarter.

The defensive battle was marked by rugged defenses and a steady rain, with both lines tough up the middle.

The Maroons had several penetrating advances stopped by the tough White Hall defense in the second quarter, and were unable to push the ball across for the tying touchdown.

Watts broke loose for the game's only score in the third frame with the try for the extra point failing in a passing attempt.

The win boosts Winchester's season record over the 500 mark at 3-2 and likewise in the Illinois Valley conference with a 2-1 slate.

XAVIER TO HONOR SUGAR BOWL PACT

CINCINNATI (AP)—The president of Xavier University said Thursday that the Jesuit school will honor its agreement to take part in the 1962 Sugar Bowl basketball tournament despite protests that the seating of spectators at New Orleans will be segregated.

The Very Rev. Paul J. O'Connor, S.J., said Xavier has been criticized by several persons and organizations, "notably the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People," since the contract was signed on March 14.

"We still maintain that it is a matter of judgment and not a moral issue whether it is prudent to participate in this tournament or not, and we believe that such judgment is the prerogative of the university," said Father O'Connor.

The Leathernecks completely dominated play on the rain soaked field. The visitors opened with a goal in the first period and added two more to lead 3-0 at halftime.

Birds' Brannan Gets Three TDs In 33-26 Victory

BLUFFS — Jim Brannan split the Bluffs Bluejays' defense for three touchdowns Friday evening, and the Virginia Redbirds won their second game of the season, 33-26 in a PMSC conference tilt.

After being tied by the Bluejays 13-13 at halftime, the Redbirds erupted for a pair of scores in the third frame, and added the clincher in the final quarter.

Rick Smith started the evening's scoring in the first period, going seven yards through the middle of the Jays' forward wall, and Brannan booted the extra point.

Jerry Sapp boosted the hosts into a deadlock with a 17 yard scoring pass from quarterback Denny Gregory and Mike Moore ran the PAT over the middle. Virginia's quarterback, Dave Jokisch, juggled the ball 20 yards around end for the second score with the extra point failing short.

Sapp again hauled the ball in on a 12 yard scoring pass from Gregory in the second period but the PAT missed leaving a 13-13 halftime score.

Brannan picked up a pair of touchdowns in the third period, on runs of five and one yards, and Brannan kicked the extra points, but the Redbirds up on Bluffs.

Bluffs' Jim Carmean broke loose for a 45 yard scoring jaunt in the frame and Sapp logged the PAT to keep the Bluejays in the contest.

Carmean brought the Bluejays within one in the final quarter on a 20 yarder around end but the try for the extra point failed, and Brannan added his final score with a 4 yard blast off tackle for the winning margin.

The Bluejays had two drives thwarted in the final quarter as a result of a fumble and a 15 yard penalty calling back a 45 yard run by Gregory.

Virginia now holds a 2-3 season mark and is 1-1 in the PMSC, while the Bluejays stand 0-4 for the year and 0-3 in the conference race.

Saukees-Rockets Battle to 6-6 Tie

PITTSFIELD — Pittsfield and Rushville battled to a 6-6 deadlock in a Midwest conference game here Friday evening, with both clubs breaking through defenses for a single touchdown in the third period.

The Saukees' Dan Boyd scampered 83 yards midway in the third frame for the first score of the game, but the PAT failed on a running attempt. Rushville countered with Paul Runkle plunging over the middle for a third yarder, with the important PAT failing on a run.

Both clubs missed chances to pull the game out of the fire, with Pittsfield's Stan Boyd intercepting a Rocket pass in the second quarter and returning it 50 yards before the drive stalled, and Rushville advancing to the Pittsfield three yard line with less than a minute left, but the Saukees held on the remaining two downs.

Pittsfield now stands at 1-2-2 for the season and 0-0-1 in the conference.

Vote Veeck, Wilson Into Illinois Hall

Join Seventeen Other Illinoisans

CHICAGO (AP)—Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, U.S. Olympic Committee president and former Big Ten commissioner, and baseball's buoyant Bill Veeck Friday were voted into the Illinois Sports Hall of Fame.

Wilson, 66, and Veeck, 48, won the two new niches added to the Hall each year in a poll of the sponsoring Illinois Associated Press Sports Editors' Association.

Since 1958 when 10 charter members were named, the Hall has increased to 19 members. Last year, a deadlock resulted for one of the berths. So three members were elected, including Dike Eddleman, University of Illinois athletic great; Jay Berwanger, famed University of Chicago football star; and former world lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell.

Wilson and Veeck, along with other Hall of Fame members will be honored Monday night before more than 500 persons at a dinner sponsored by the Illini Club of Chicago in the Palmer House.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Bob Richards, polevaulting great, who will be flanked at the rostrum by such other University of Illinois Hall of Famers as George Halas, Red Grange, Lou Boudreau and Eddie Maner.

Other Hall members include A. Stagg, George Huff, Bob Zuppke, Walter Eckersall, Otto Graham, Clark Evans, A. G. Spalding, Charles (Old Roman) Comiskey, Clark Griffith and George Mikan.

No Hall The Hall of Famers or their representatives will receive certificates, later to be hung in a permanent home for the Hall still to be selected.

Gov. Otto Kerner and University of Illinois president David Dadds Henry also will attend the banquet.

In this year's balloting, Veeck and Tug Wilson won over such other contenders as Joey Ray, Ray Schalk, Hack Wilson and George Musso.

Tug Wilson is a "farm boy" from Atwood, Ill., who made good in a big athletic way. At the University of Illinois, he was an all-around star. He captained the 1920 Illini cage team and the same summer competed in the Antwerp Olympic Games as a javelin and discus thrower.

Wilson got his nickname after Britain's Tug Wilson who visited this country to fight John L. Sullivan.

For 40 years, Wilson has been in administrative athletics, serving as athletic director at Drake and Northwestern before becoming Big Ten commissioner in 1945. He retired from the Big Ten post in 1961, devoting full time to presidency of the U.S. Olympic Committee which he has held since 1963.

Olympic, NCAA Pilot Wilson long has been a leader in both Olympic and NCAA affairs, and in 1959-61 was president of the National Association of Collegiate Commissioners.

The irrepressible Veeck, a native of suburban Hinsdale, Ill., grew up in baseball, virtually being raised at Wrigley Field where his father was a Chicago Cub prospect.

From a $15-a-week Cub office boy, Veeck became a flamboyant, free-wheeling operator, at constant war with rival clubs who blanch at his "circuit" promotions. In meteoric fashion, he operated three big league clubs—the Indians, the erstwhile St. Louis Browns and White Sox.

Veeck, who lost his right leg from a Marine gun recoil injury in 1943, ostensibly retired from baseball in 1961, selling out as president of the White Sox because of failing health.

He retreated to a Maryland estate, but current reports have him eyeing another baseball franchise—this time the Washington Senators.

Everywhere Veeck has gone, there have been fireworks, real ones, and personal salvos directed at unadmirable critics. Both his 1948 Indians and his 1959 White Sox won American League pennants.

Marler Wins, Mac Drops Triangular

MacMurray College's Jim Marler won his third individual meet of the season but his efforts were in vain as the Highlanders managed only a second place finish in a triangular cross-country meet Friday in Peoria.

Marler was timed in 18:46 over the rugged three-mile course. It was Marler's best time of the season.

Mendon Rips Dosh Homecoming 27-6

MEREDOSIA — Mendon's Meredith Evans booted for three touchdowns to spoil Meredosias' homecoming and snap a two-game Indian winning string, 27-6.

The non-conference ball game was played in rain and saw the host Indians held scoreless until the final period when fullback Tom Grisham punched over from the two after driving downfield after a kickoff.

Mike Agard started the winner's scoring in the first period on a 47-yard gallop and also added the PAT.

Evans began his evening's scoring in the second period with a nine-yard run and soon added a 12-yarder shortly before halftime. Evans also added the point after on his first score.

Evans broke loose again in the final frame on a 63-yard scamper and added the extra point, giving Mendon a 27-0 margin before the Indians scored.

Meredosia now lists an even 2-2 season mark but remains 2-0 in the Pike-Morgan-Scott-Cass conference.

SCORES THREE ACES ON 9 HOLE COURSE

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A 55-year-old golfing physician says he scored three holes-in-one on a nine-hole course Wednesday—and he apparently has witnesses to prove it.

"I'm just beginning to realize what has happened," said Dr. Joseph O. Boydston.

Ed Nowak, pro at Bakersfield public golf course where Boydston scored his aces, said his 21-year-old son saw the final hole-in-one. Golfers Bill Mandel and Lorin Eddy saw all three, attested Nowak.

Boydston said he used a No. 1 iron for his ace on the 213-yard third hole, a nine iron on the 132-yard fourth hole and an eight iron on the 135-yard ninth hole.

MAHOVLICH MILLION DOLLAR DEAL OFF

TORONTO (AP)—The million-dollar hockey deal is off, officially.

The Toronto Maple Leafs, reigning Stanley Cup champions of the National Hockey League, officially turned down Thursday the $1 million offer from the Chicago Black Hawks for Frank Mahovlich, 24-year-old left-winger with the superstar tag.

The deal, first hatched at a late night party in a downtown Toronto hotel room last Friday when Hawk owner Jim Norris made the offer, got down to earth with a small pop late Thursday.

The money men behind Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens — hockey magnate Stafford Smythe, publisher John Bassett and industrialist Harold Ballard—got together and unanimously decided to reject the offer from multi-millionaire Norris.

TICKETS ISSUED IN ACCIDENT ON SOUTH MAIN STREET

Two tickets were issued as a result of an accident in front of Hoppe Wheel Alignment on South Main Saturday afternoon, when Verda M. Williams of R.R. 2, White Hall, escaped injury when she attempted to enter her car in front of a car driven by John K. Stokes of 400 W. Michigan. Miss Williams walked across the street from the Mel-O-Cream Donut Shop and was preparing to get into her '61 Chevrolet when she noticed the 1961 Mercury convertible driven by Stokes approaching. She flattened herself against the car, as her right front door was torn completely off by the Stokes car. Stokes was issued a ticket for driving too fast for conditions, and Miss Williams for obstructing traffic.
